THE CANADIAN PLAYERS. Charles Hayter as Grumio and Max Helpmann as Petruccio in Canadian Players' production of "Taming of the Shrew."

The Warren Jaycees are sponsoring an Essay Contest for all Warren County Students who attend either of the productions by the Canadian Players in Beaty Auditorium on November 28. First prize in the contest is a $25 Government Bond.

The Canadian Players, which is the winter touring company of the famed Stratford Shakespearean Festival in Stratford, Ont., will offer Chekhov's "The Cherry Orchard" at a 2:30 matinee and "The Taming of the Shrew" at the 8:30 evening performance.

Students will have an opportunity to try their skill as drama critics in the contest. Each contestant is required to write a review of the play he or she attends. Entries can be submitted to the Canadian Players ticket representative in their school. All entries must be received by December 4. A panel of judges will evaluate the entries and award the $25 first prize.

A. J. McDonnell, Jaycee committee member in charge of the contest and school ticket sales, announced that tickets are available in all Warren county high schools and junior high schools. Each school has a teacher ticket representative.

In addition to the schools, tickets for both performances are also on sale in Warren at the B & B Smoke Shop and the United Cigar Store; in Sheffield at the Sheffield Pharmacy; in Youngsville at the Youngsville Pharmacy; in Tidioute at the Jos. Sabella Confectionery; and in Jamestown at the Briggs Piano store. All seats are reserved and prices range from $1.10 to $3.30.

Observations

By Bob Walsh

OUR ELECTION METHOD HAS GLARING FAULTS

The political analysts usually point out that rural areas are for the Republicans and the cities support the Democrats. This didn't apply to Warren county last week, though you probably could call a community the size of Warren pretty much rural, comparably speaking.

But certainly the areas surrounding Warren are far more rural than is the county seat. It didn't look that way on the tally sheets. Outside of Warren there are forty-one precincts. About twenty-four of them voted a Democrat majority and many others were very close. In Warren only one ward went Democrat.

In the county the Democrats came very close to leading in some of the races and Martin topped Mead in the commissioner figures outside of Warren, and Akeley, a county resident, headed him by only 16 votes. In the register and recorder contest Ball led Finzer by only 219 votes, a very slim edge in a vote that exceeded 13,000.

It was an encouraging election for the independent voter, or should have been. Perhaps he did not win, but he came mighty close, and that is the first time it has shown that much hope since the middle 30's.

Unless the Republicans provide a court house record that is above campaign reproach they are apt to find themselves out on an even weaker limb four years from now. And that is the way politics should pay off.

The value of a two-party system, of course, even when the minority is not quite strong enough to win in quiet years, is that the officeholders are responsive to the requests of the people. If they are not made sensitive, abuses naturally develop.

This is especially true in our antique county government system which encourages the fortunate to make the most of their short stay, and in fact offers little more than an opportunity to put a mite away during a relatively short-term job. There are many candidates who never would aspire to an office if they weren't convinced that it is a hay-maker.

With human frailties persisting in the best of us, politics pay off only if the public is alerted to current practices, and this is not apt to occur unless you have two strong parties scrapping for the office space.

Thousands of dollars could be saved Warren county taxpayers through a change in the county system. This should be done by law, but as long as politicians can prevent it, no such efficiency will result.

The Democrats were offering to make these changes voluntarily, and they were safe in saying that they could save the county at least $20,000 by practicing what should be done through legislative changes. Many taxpayers saw the light and split their tickets, but not quite enough. It is not a question of fraud. Any sign of that usually results in immediate repudiation at the polls. The question involves ability and conscience.

The Democrats were proposing to elect men so fit for the jobs that much of the work would be done by the successful candidates. Certainly this is a commendable approach.

We doubt if it can be made to work that way over the long haul. If the central figure in each office is the one who is elected, you lose your best talent every four years, or whenever the official is defeated at the polls. That is the weakness of our present system, and it is a very costly one.

The current arrangement makes it necessary for every office to have at least one employe who can carry on from administration to administration. In addition you cannot expect a man to work for small wages if he must give at least four years of his life. Your exceptions include those who retire into politics or are not qualified.

If most of our county offices were appointive with civil service protection, the elected administrators, in this case the county commissioners, would be your political liaison between the people and their public employes. Such an arrangement would save easily $20,000 in Warren county alone, and we suspect it would conserve much more than that through increased efficiency and savings down through the years of political transition.

Warren county has been extremely fortunate in many of its choices, such as the sheriff's office where men trained in the required work have been elected. But there have been times in the past when this has not been true and the county has suffered in many ways.

There are other corners which can be cut, and some of these might even be effected under the present system. Huge savings could be made in tax collecting and assessing. Any qualified business man, operating the county as a profit-maker, would centralize the processes, install modern equipment, and greatly reduce taxes. Tax collectors in every corner of a county this size are a frightening example of inefficiency in this day of the car and electronic devices.

BUT MEANWHILE

As it stands today we must elect men who will effect progressive changes that are possible under the law and will take only what they conscientiously believe is their due from the office to which they are elected. We must depend on our parties to name men who can do a major share of the work in their offices, and do it honestly.

And if these basic qualifications are not met the failures become facts that should be discussed as issues during campaigns. They are not dreamed up propaganda. When pre-election charges involve definite statements concerning our county offices the failure to specifically defend the incumbents and to refute the statements through factual proof is deserving of suspicion and perhaps failure at the polls.

This is politics at its best ... not at its worst. And the people came close to proving it this fall. It came as close as the straight ticket handle on the election machines would let them. The ticket handle saved the Republicans.

We favor the use of machines. They are not prone to human error and they leave no handwriting trail. But they are very weak in one respect. They protect the organization hatchet men and deny the voter privacy. They also discourage thinking.

Many people hesitate to split their tickets for a variety of reasons. They are confused concerning the mechanics of the operation, and find it easier to pull one lever. Or they are afraid to do other than pull just one.

Every poll has its watchers and any really efficient political organization can tell you within a very few figures just how many splits have been voted at any time of the election day. It often has much bearing on their plan of attack.

If the vote is light and there are very few splits the majority party may sit tight and do a minimum of taxi work. But if the splits are many and the vote light the politicians must hustle out those registrants on whom they can depend to vote "right".

The time spent behind the curtain is the tip-off. The person who for social or political job reasons wants no one to suspect that he or she is doing other than supporting the party will walk in, grab the lever (or make one "X"), and hustle out. To spend much time in there pulling knobs indicates a split vote. Not a popular practice in some circles.

The pulling of the single lever also makes the election too easy and does not provoke an active interest in the candidates and issues. If we were required to vote for the individuals every voter would find it necessary to be informed and the personal decision might have electrifying results.

We propose that officials remove the party lever and let the people vote as they wish. There is very little secret about the ballot as it now stands, either paper or machine. But the machines could be made very protective and at the same time provide efficiency, through the removal of party control.

OIL SWINDLE IN WESTERN NEW YORK MILKS FIFTY

Because one of the richest sources of easy income for the common man is the sale of oil stock and lease swindles we believe the oil-minded people of Warren county might be interested in the following facts provided by the Post Office Department:

A particularly vicious oil and gas lease confidence swindle in which four persons in western New York State were bilked of more than $200,000 has been halted with the indictment in Rochester, New York and the arrest of five of this nation's most calloused confidence men, Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield announced today.

The leader and dominant figure in this group of swindlers was Albert Sandrow, 45, of New York City, one of the most versatile confidence men in the country, with criminal convictions going back to 1941. Second, was Joseph H. Schoenberger, 70, whose criminal career began in 1930. Schoenberger has been described as probably the most calloused of this gang. It was he, who, on leaving the house of a man whose wife was dying from cancer and from whom Schoenberger had just swindled about his last $1800, stopped and said, "let us now bow our heads for a few moments in silent prayer for your afflicted wife."

The third member of the gang was John Dillon, 46, an old-time confidence man and bad check passer. The fourth was John W. Johnson, 33, formerly of Washington, D. C., and the fifth member was John B. Sullivan, 59, of Brooklyn, who has an arrest record stretching back to 1925.

The prime targets of the swindlers were elderly persons. In fact, two of the victims in western New York were each 87. The victims' names were carefully selected from lists known to confidence men who work through "telephone boiler room" method of stock promotions and sales.

To the victims, the swindlers appeared to be prosperous - as from time to time they were - jovial and sincere businessmen, thoughtful and kind to children and grandchildren and men who gradually engendered in their victims an almost blind faith in their honesty.

The defendants, through carefully mapped-out lines of action, defrauded their victims in New York State - and throughout the country - by the sale of nearly valueless oil and gas leases on State-owned lands in New Mexico by means of a variety of misrepresentations.

A systematic and purposeful entanglement of the victims into a maze of partial payments and exchange of promissory notes was intended to befuddle them to the point where they found it difficult, if not impossible, to keep track of the transactions. This, in turn, forced the victims to rely more and more on what their helpful "business partners" told them had occurred.

Notice is hereby given that Complaint in Action to Quiet Title has been filed in the above-entitled case in the Court of Common Pleas of Warren County, Pennsylvania, as to premises in the Boro of Tidioute, Warren County, Pennsylvania, bounded and described as follows:

BEGINNING at an iron post standing in the east line of Church Street N 5° E 250 feet from the intersection of Church Street with Main Street; thence S 85° E 132 feet to an iron post; thence N 5° E 60 feet to an iron post; thence N 85° W 132 feet to an iron post standing in the east line of Church Street; thence S 5° W along the east line of Church Street 80 feet to the iron post, the place of beginning.

Said Complaint was filed on October 23, 1959, and the defendants are required to appear, plead, and answer to the same within twenty days from the date hereof.

Victims were persuaded to turn over "blue chip" securities to the swindlers in turn for which they received oil leases at $20.00 per acre, or $800.00 per 40-acre tract. Investigation determined that these same leases had been purchased at prices ranging from 20 cents to 50 cents per acre. One victim was told her leases would be worth more than $100,000 while, in truth, they were worth $640.00 and probably much less, if a buyer could be found.

As victims invested more and more heavily in leases, additional "bait" in the form of supposed money-making opportunities was held before them. And, in case after case, the victims were left penniless by these confidence men who were completely devoid of honest feelings or compassion.

Postal Inspectors who are conducting the investigation estimate that this group of confidence men have obtained at least $330,000 during the last three years from 50 known victims. It is expected this figure will go much higher as the investigation continues to other parts of the country.

In Brief

OFFICIAL ELECTION figures were completed Monday at Warren County Court House, but offered no change in the outcome of last Tuesday's balloting.

The most questionable issue was the Democratic minority seat in the county commissioners' office where incumbent Lewis L. Crippen held a shaky 15 vote margin over William L. Martin. This span was cut to 10 (6291 to 6281) in the official count.

Other principal finals were: General Assembly -- Frank A. Fago (D) 5984, Joseph H. Goldstein (R) 7345; winning Republican commissioners -- Blain M. Mead 6875, Clarence C. Akeley 6928; Register and Recorder -- Vinton Finzer (D) 6438, Gurney R. Ball (R) 6935; Prothonotary -- Robert E. Meleen (D) 5808, Warren G. Lowe (R) 7635; Sheriff -- John Imperial (D) 6201, Donnell E. Allen, Jr. (R) 7302; County Treasurer -- John Salamon (D) 6016, William E. Rice (R) 7397.

Final results for Warren Borough Council seats were: first ward -- James Torrance (R) 492, Beyer Africa (R) 484 (both elected, unopposed); third ward -- Glen Patchen (R) 195, Mark Bevevino (D) 128 (one elected); fourth ward -- Gus Swick 137, Victor Graziano 277 (one elected; winner a non-resident, council will appoint a replacement); fifth ward -- Karl Timm (R) 569, Leon Laskaris (R) 554 (both elected, unopposed); sixth ward -- E. McElwain (R) 344, John Fago (D) 303 (one elected); seventh ward -- Robert Gibb, Jr. (R) 188, Isador Trager (D) 145 (one elected); eighth ward -- Art Langdon (R) 263, Karl Peterson, Sr., 187 (one elected); ninth ward -- Raymond Marti (R) 220, William Brooks (D) 190; tenth ward -- Dr. Ross Bryan (R) 334, Louis C. Niederlander (R) 409, John Shaffer (D) 255, (Bryan defeated Shaffer for four-year seat, Niederlander ran unopposed for two-year seat).

SENTENCED. In county court Tuesday Lawrence M. Jewell, 24, of Corry, changed his plea to guilty on a charge of driving during license suspension and was sentenced to six months in county jail and ordered to pay costs of prosecution.

DID YOU KNOW that there were 23,810 traffic deaths in the first eight months of 1959 . . . 800,000 disabling injuries so far this year . . . $1,850,000,000 in property damage last year. These figures were released by The Advertising Council with the opening of their Fall-Winter Stop Accidents Campaign.

CYCLIST INJURED. Richard Schwab, 21, of 7 West st., was travelling north on Conewango ave. on his motorcycle when he was struck by a car operated by Mrs. Janet S. Johnson, 40, of 317 Jackson ave. Mrs. Johnson had been proceeding south on the avenue and was turning into Jackson avenue when she heard the crash.

Schwab suffered a broken left wrist and a broken right foot. He also had a laceration and fracture of the nose. About $170 damage was done to the Johnson vehicle and $200 to the cyle. The accident occurred last Friday at 7:22 p.m.

COULDN'T GET STOPPED. Mrs. Marion Honhart, 305 Fourth ave., was proceeding west on Fourth ave. and was attempting a turn into Hazel st. when her car was hit in the side by another auto operated by Ned Zaffino, 22, of 816 Fourth ave. The accident, which occurred last Friday at 7:59 a.m. caused $50 damage to the Zaffino auto and about $90 to the Honhart vehicle. No injuries resulted.

TWO ONE-CAR ACCIDENTS were reported by the State Police last Saturday. At 10 a.m. a car operated by Ben Cummings, R.D. 2, Warren, was involved in a mishap which resulted in $50 damage. Cummings was backing into a drive three miles west of Russell and misjudged the turn. The auto went into a ditch, but the driver was not injured. At 9 p.m. on the same day a car driven by W. L. Shadle, of Warren, left the highway and hit a tree two miles south of Clarendon. Shadle suffered lacerations of the head and right arm. About $50 damage was done to the vehicle.

IN OBSERVANCE of Veteran's Day, today, the Warren Public Library this week has opened a display of books about the various wars in which the United States has fought. Represented are volumes on World War II, World War I, the Korean War, Civil War, American Revolution, and several others.

READY TO ROLL. The Warren Lions Club's annual Christmas Seal Sale campaign is ready to roll, according to sales chairman Gerald Coates. The drive will start the 16th of this month when 14,109 letters will be placed in the mail.

BERNARD O'BRIEN, who has replaced Miss Katherine Knapp as executive director of the Family Service and Children's Aid Society of Warren County. He has served as executive secretary of the Sioux City Catholic Charities in Sioux City, Iowa, for the past two and a half years. Miss Knapp resigned from her post here in October.

MORE POLIO SHOTS will be available in Warren county on November 21 when clinics will be held at the same places and at the same times as they were scheduled earlier this fall. But the shots will be limited to those who received their first ones at the October 10 and 17 clinics. If you still have not received your first shot, make your own arrangements. (The price also will be the same on Nov. 21. One dollar, if you can afford it. Nothing if you can't).

FIFTY-EIGHT CASES are now under the care of the Warren Visiting Nursing Association according to the monthly report for October.

OVER $100 SHORT. The current fifth annual campaign to add $5,000 to the Permanent Endowment Fund of the Warren County Probation Association is $123.03 short of its goal. Judge Alexander C. Flick, Jr., made the report at the Monday meeting of the sponsoring Warren Rotary Club.

The fund, which has been promoted annually by the Rotarians since 1954, has a present balance of $25,002.01. This is held by The Warren Foundation, Inc., and the income is delivered twice a year to the Probation Association and paid over to the Warren County Commissioners to help maintain and improve the probation system for boys and girls in Warren County.

The current check for income on the Endowment Fund, for the first half of the year 1959, was in the amount of $437.97, and will be delivered to the county commissioners in a few days.

At the close of his report, Judge Flick informed the organization that a donor who had contributed $100 each year for the past four years, had promised to make a similar gift this year. This would leave the balance in the drive at $23.03, an amount which the members of the Rotary Club could meet to make this drive as successful as the others.

HEARING SCHEDULED. A coroner's inquest in the death of Albert Anderson, Water st., Warren, on October 20th, will be held in the large court room of the Warren County Court House at 3 p. m. Saturday.

Mr. Anderson died in Warren General Hospital of a fractured skull. Authorities are trying to determine how the injury was sustained.

ASSISTANT SUPERINTENDENT HIRED; NEW SCHOOL 25 PER CENT COMPLETED

Dr. Stanton W. Simkins, presently the assistant superintendent of schools in Youngstown, Ohio, was engaged to fill a similar position in the local school system by the joint committee of the Warren Area Joint School Board at its session Monday night.

The new assistant will fill a vacancy created when Gerald Newton resigned from the post of director of instruction and curriculum here in July of 1958.

Dr. Simkins holds a doctor's degree from the University of Pittsburgh, and previous to going to Youngstown was in charge of curriculum in Bucks County. He was hired at an annual salary of $12,000.

A progress report on the new high school building indicated that it is about 25 per cent completed and construction is almost on schedule. There is, however a chance that work will be held up shortly because of lack of certain types of steel.

At the same time the members of the jointure were reminded to get their second payment for the rental of the new high school in by March 15. They will receive partial reimbursement from the state.

Payment of bills approved for construction were $92,887, general contracting, Branna Construction; $8,989, heating, Sans Corp.; $9,613, for plumbing, Sans Corp.; $4,035, architectural fee; $536, seeding slopes, Campbell Lawn Service; $23, seed, GLF; $266, John M. Hunter for old hay for seeded areas.

Cafeteria bills amounting to $9,167 were paid and the cafeteria fund was loaned $2,500 until the state reimbursement is received.

Bills reported by the finance committee totalled $12,524 and were approved. Others approved were $932, orders written during the month;

$221, special services; $80, recreation services; $484, substitute teachers employed; $844, janitors' overtime.

Teacher needs at the junior and senior high schools were discussed and it was decided to employ a special education teacher and one other for the high school and five new teachers at Beaty. The resignation of Mrs. Meredith Johnson, dramatics teacher at Beaty, was accepted effective Nov. 20.

Jerome Paul was promoted to the position of acting superintendent of buildings.

Lesser Insurance Co., carrier of the master policy for fire insurance, informed the committee of the need to increase the total insurance to 4 million, 920 thousand dollars. This is an increase of $185,000. The school system carries 90 per cent full insurance.

A testing program in the 10th grade at high school revealed an average IQ among students of 102.

Summer school for 1960 in the high school was accepted. There will be an advanced class in English literature and composition. Also possibly drivers' education and health, and some classes for failures to repeat subjects.

Football receipts for the past season amounted to $2,442. The boro will be reimbursed seven per cent of this, or $170.

The committee passed a resolution expressing their sympathy to the family of C. C. Winans, who died suddenly earlier this month. Mr. Winans was chairman of the Authority.

An organizational meeting of the joint committee and the Joint Board will be held in Beaty cafeteria at 7 o'clock the evening of Monday, December 14. Henry Powell, the principal of Beaty Jr. high, will speak on the curriculum in his school at that time.

Deaths

MISS ANNA MARGARET JOHN-SON, 54, of 213 Madison ave., Warren, who died last Thursday in Warren General Hospital, was buried Monday afternoon in Oakland Cemetery following services conducted by the Rev. Carl Nelson of St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

Miss Johnson was born in Costello, Penna., May 29, 1905, but had resided in Warren for the past 30 years. Surviving are a brother, Carl Johnson, Gerry, N.Y.; and three sisters, Mrs. Henry Rockman of Corry, Mrs. Enar Wester and Mrs. Julius Johnson, both of Warren. Also, several cousins, nieces and nephews.

FRED A. JONES. Funeral services were held for Fred A. Jones, 76, of Pittsfield, at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon in Sugar Grove. Burial was in the Berea Lutheran Cemetery in Wrightsville.

His only close survivor is a brother, the Rev. Lawrence Jones, Seattle, Washington.

MRS. IDA L. CHASE, 68, of 1234 W. Main st., Corry, died Thursday afternoon in Corry Memorial Hospital. She had been in failing health for some time.

The deceased was born in Torpedo, May 29, 1891, and had been a resident of Corry since 1908. Among survivors is a daughter, Mrs. Harold Hedstrom, of Youngsville.

The Rev. Paul Bauer, Corry Presbyterian Church, conducted the funeral services Monday and burial followed in the Pine Grove Cemetery at Corry.

CHARLES FREDERICK HORN-STROM, 83, died suddenly at 2 p.m. Saturday, November 7, at his home, 102 Dartmouth st., Warren. He was born July 27, 1876, in this city and lived here the greater part of his life.

Operator of a photography studio in Warren for many years before his retirement, he was a member of the Masonic Lodge, Keene, New Hampshire.

He was preceded in death by his wife, Matilda, in September, 1958. One brother, J. Arthur Hornstrom of Warren, survives.

Friends were received at the Peterson Funeral Home from where services were conducted Tuesday. The Rev. Ralph Findley of the Grace Methodist Church officiated, and interment was in Oakland Cemetery.

WILLIAM S. KIFER, 89, who died early Friday morning at Warren General Hospital, was buried Tuesday in the Marienville Cemetery. The Rev. A. C. Spencer, First Free Methodist Church, officiated at the services.

A resident of this area for the past 45 years, Mr. Kifer was born October 27, 1870, in Shamburg, Penna. He had lived in Hemlock for the past 10 years.

A railroad engineer for many years, he also worked at the Sherwood Refining Co. before retiring in 1949. He was a member of Epworth Methodist Church and the Marienville Lodge of Odd Fellows.

Among surviving children are Mrs. Laura Green, Hemlock, and Walter Kifer, Mrs. Mason Decker and Jessie Kifer of West Hickory.

JOHN S. THOMPSON, who died last Thursday in Warren General Hospital, was buried Sunday in Stillson Hill Cemetery. The Rev. Alvin Rhoades of the Methodist Church, conducted the funeral services in the Schoonover Funeral Home, Sugar Grove.

He is survived by his wife, Ferne Boone Thompson; three daughters, Mrs. Fay Woodard of Youngsville, Mrs. Paul Getts of Indiana, Penna., and Mrs. Carl Allen of Sugar Grove; also four grandchildren.

MRS. MARION A. HAYDUK, 53, wife of John Hayduk, Kane, died in Kane Summit Hospital last Thursday morning. Burial took place in Mt. Tabor Cemetery.

Mrs. Hayduk is survived by her husband, and two daughters, Mrs. Verna May Launer of Warren, and Mrs. Kathryn Eshelman of Marienville.

MRS. FLORENCE GALLAGHER, Services for Mrs. Florence Gallagher, 83, who died Monday following a long illness, are to be held at 3 p.m. today in the Lutz-VerMilyea Funeral Home with the Rev. Beecher Rutledge officiating. Burial is to follow in the Pine Grove Cemetery at Russell.

Survivors include a brother, James Chapel, and two sisters, Mrs. Marie Hamm and Mrs. Hartley Johnson, all of Warren.

CHARLES L. BRYAN, 70, native of Warren County, died at his home in Miami, Fla., Oct. 25, after a long illness. Services and interment took place in that city. Survivors include a sister, Mrs. Mildred Way, Irvine.

MRS. MAUDE K. POY, 88, of 334 Euclid st., Corry, former area resident, died Thursday, Nov. 5 at her home. Surviving are a sister and a brother, Mrs. Lydia Gleason and Harry Pillsbury, Pittsfield. Funeral services were held Monday at the Lutz-VerMilyea Funeral Home, followed by interment in Pine Grove cemetery at Russell.

Rockefeller Battles

By Marquis Childs

(Editor's note: This is the first of a series of three articles about Governor Nelson Rockefeller of New York -- a sound evaluation by Mr. Childs of the governor's present position and the possibility that he will be the Republican candidate for President next year.)

NEW YORK. -- Just a year ago Nelson Rockefeller flashed onto the political horizon like a young meteor. Today he is one of the three or four most conspicuous possibilities for President of the United States after 1960.

When he won the governorship of

New York by a majority of more than a half-million votes he was the wealthy amateur in politics. That gave an extra dimension to his victory. While today in the eyes of Republican professionals he is still an amateur and even an interloper, he is about to tour the West with 50 reporters trailing him to read the portents of a candidacy that is all but avowed.

There are at least two good reasons why this should be happening. One has to do with Governor Rockefeller's own character, temperament, attributes and background -- the popular appeal he has demonstrated. The second reason is the prevailing miasma of doubt about the other candidates and for that matter, about the political process itself. The fact that he has seemed to stand above the political battle as a champion of good government is one of his assets.

But he is now getting into the thick of it where the hazards are great. For three days in California and Oregon he will woo Western state chairmen, county committeemen and other pros who must choose the Republican candidate. He is making two speeches on foreign policy, one on economic growth, and one on education. In short, he is showing his colors in a new and bolder phase of what he insists is still a testing operation.

Essentially he is a cautious and a careful man. Perhaps anyone conditioned from birth by so much money and so much power would inevitably have acquired a hard shell of caution. He is also, behind the grin, an intensely serious man.

Without the smile his face is a mask of serious concentration and particularly when he is wrestling with the twin perils of policy and politics. In a recent television appearance he urged that the United States resume nuclear testing when the one-year moratorium ends in December. This was necessary for America's security, he said. Thereby he disenchanted some of his liberal admirers.

"Why couldn't you have simply said that you believed that the foreign policy and the security of the United States were in good hands with the President of the United States?" one of his advisors asked him afterward.

But I said what I believed in answer to a question, Rockefeller replied, looking a little hurt. With even more emphasis this is the answer he gives when he is asked whether he puts any real faith in the fallout shelter program he has advocated for this state and the nation.

He is responsible for the safety of the 16,000,000 people of New York. If, in the event of a war, casualties from fallout can be reduced by 35 percent or more, than it is up to the governor to try to get through a program of home shelters. Rockefeller had hoped to hold a meeting in Washington early in December with President Eisenhower, governors who are members of Rockefeller's Civil Defense Committee and defense chiefs. The President's world travel plans have knocked this out.

Rockefeller talks with intense seriousness of the threat of "nuclear blackmail" a year or a year and a half from now. He sees the pattern in the 14-page note which Premier Khrushchev sent to Chancellor Adenauer last summer. If you read that carefully, he says, then you will see what we may be in for when the Russians have a full complement of intercontinental ballistic missiles -- the threat of nuclear annihilation on the one hand and peace with prosperity if you play the game on their terms on the other hand.

The report of the Rockefeller Brothers Fund on America's security is the base of the governor's views. That report, along with others on foreign aid, education and economic growth, laid the groundwork of a national program of far greater scope than the Eisenhower Administration has ever been willing to contemplate. While he subscribes to these goals he is inhibited as a good Republican from criticizing the Administration.

That is a part of his dilemma. He knows that the professionals in his party would almost all rather play a cozy game with the only other Republican candidate, Vice-President Nixon. Nixon could inherit the office any hour of any day and become the inevitable choice. The disloyal would then find themselves out in the cold.

For all the doubts that plague Governor Rockefeller, the visitor senses that a tide is carrying him irresistibly along. He may pull back before January 1 when his friends must prepare to enter a delegate slate pledged to him in the New Hampshire primary in March -- back to the safe shore of the governorship and the hope for another try at the big prize in 1964. But it is late, the tide is strong, and the governor has so obviously begun to love battle for the sake of battle.

This could raise as much as $80,000, depending on the percentage and the method.

If the council utilizes the wage tax you can be reasonably certain that the school board will be encouraged to follow. It is a fair source that may require strong leadership to tap because the public prefers not to face the facts where taxes are concerned. We want the best but we don't want our pay envelope nicked to pay for it.

We didn't mention this last week because we thought the Warren council might appreciate an opportunity to discuss it without the pressure of non-resident visitors. These neighbors constantly heckle council and have helped defeat several worthwhile efforts.

Why council listens to the voluble outsiders who attempt to tell us how to run our community is difficult to understand. They even got mixed up in the fluoridation issue, and the ones we mean are not dependent on Warren for their water supply.

We suggest that all of the boroughs and townships should be giving real estate some relief by using the earned income tax. It will be a very small item out of the average pay check, and the only ones really inconvenienced will be the bookkeepers who will have another deduction to record. And in this way they keep the tax for their own use instead of the community in which they make their living.

RADIO NOT ENOUGH

We always are amused when we hear radio talk about the newspaper not being missed when one is put out of commission during a strike or other trouble. Ask the people of Montpelier, the capital of Vermont. They have a radio station but no newspaper.

The situation is so intolerable that they are inviting potential publishers to talk it over. They want a newspaper so bad that they are willing to help finance it. The population is about nine thousand.

VAN DOREN UNDERPAID

One of the tragedies uncovered as a part of the Van Doren story is the fact that his case is one of the many American examples of underpaid teachers who look elsewhere for income. This professor at a leading university, who is considered a very intelligent and capable person, was receiving about five thousand dollars a year.

And his students apparently think he is more than worth the money. They are proving more broad of mind than Columbia by petitioning for his reinstatement. Over three hundred have signed the request.

STRANGULATION

Television is apt to strangle itself with commercialization. The networks and the local stations are saturated with its effects. One of the most distasteful is the current policy of plugging several coming attractions during every break. While the viewer eagerly and impatiently awaits the continuation of a program in which he is vitally interested he must sit through several commercial and program plugs.

One of the worst is the area station which some times has four commercials and two program plugs during a break.

WAAC PENSION CHANGE

If you served in the WAAC between May 13, 1942 and September 29, 1943 the time may now be credited for pension and compensation purposes, if you also had service in any branch of the armed forces after September 29, 1943. Periods of service may be combined to make up the required ninety days.

The law change also makes it possible to elect a VA pension in lieu of compensation received under the Federal Employee's Compensation Act. But you must make the choice within a year of the new law's enactment, which was August 7, 1959. See your VA office for details.

"PETEY", a pastel by Catherine Thomas, is one of many paintings and sketches you can see in the store windows around the Warren business section.

The art work is being displayed by the Warren Art League, the purpose of which organization is "to promote and advance the interest and growth of Art in the community served by the corporation".

We Stand Indicted

By Inez Robb

"Do you think the teevee scandal will make the American people realize that it is only a symptom of our own moral decay?" the elder statesman asked anxiously.

"Do you think the public's revulsion to such wholesale dishonesty will lead to a reassessment of the of the nation's easy moral standards?" he continued. "Or will it require some awful cataclysm when, perhaps, it is too late?"

"In the pursuit of the fast buck, have we sold our wonderful birthright? If I thought the public would see -- understand -- that it created the atmosphere in which this teevee mess could happen, I would feel reassured about the future."

So, in my small way, would I. For I believe that the revelations of the widespread teevee fix, as revealed in Washington before the House Special Subcommittee on Legislative Oversight, are far more damning and far more revelatory of the nation's moral standards than the disclosures of union fraud, violence and larceny before the same committee.

There is the stench of moral decay about the teevee revelations. It should be a scalding humiliation to us Americans to realize that the moral atmosphere is such that the groves of Academe, the ministry of God, the United States Army and men and women of the most-privileged background no less than Madison Avenue, big business, flesh peddlers, and the world of entertainment conspired to lie, cheat and steal.

But the most appalling symptom of moral atrophy is that children should be suborned in the name of entertainment and profits. Ever since Charles Dickens wrote "Oliver Twist" there has been a universal and repugnant name for men or women who teach children to be dishonest, and that name is Fagin.

I cannot see that there is an iota of moral difference between Dickens' Fagin, who taught children to steal, and the Fagins of the advertising, entertainment and the teevee world who, for the sake of a fast buck, taught children to take -- steal is the right word, really -- money they dishonestly earned in rigged quiz shows.

That is the ghastly nadir, the most shocking aspect of the television investigation so far. That is moral squalor in spades. To debauch children in the realm of honor and honesty is to descend to a level at which ethics do not even operate.

It is also inconceivable that the lofty powers who own and operate networks can now wash their hands in public and cry, "Non mea culpa." In this matter, I have ceased to believe in Santa Claus. Are the bigwigs, because they have power, to be saved from the lions to which they eagerly tossed the shabby people who couldn't resist their share of the profits toward which the networks drove so gaudily while the going was good?

Now that NBC has so ostentatiously fired Charles Van Doren, who asked for it, what will it, CBS and ABC do with bandleader Xavier Cugat? Cugat's crime is every bit as reprehensible as Van Doren's.

But now let us see if what is sauce for Van Doren is sauce for Cugat! Will the networks continue to employ Cugat and to play his recordings? Or will he be banished as was Van Doren by NBC? This is an interesting moral problem, and I am eager to see how the networks handle it.

The wide ramifications of the television scandal are not a reflection solely on the networks. It is an indictment of us Americans as a people that the climate in our nation allows such a situation to take root and grow. We ought to be deeply ashamed of ourselves.

ECONOMY CAR SHOW

Sponsored By

40 et 8

November 13th & 14th

Beaty Cafeteria

SEE AND COMPARE...

Even if you have already tried most of the new compacts it is possible that you have been unable to decide which is most pleasing to you. This Friday and Saturday the 40 et 8 is offering you an opportunity to see them together so that you can compare lines, comfort, storage size, and any other facet of small car motoring which may concern you. The annual auto show will be held in Beaty school, and most of the small ones will be on the floor. Hours are 7 to 10 p.m. on Friday; 2 to 10 p.m. on Saturday.

This show will do more than offer you a comparison between the American models. Also present will be many of the foreign makes, including the highly rated Peugeot, Renault Dauphine, Renault 4CV, Hillman, Opel, Vauxhall, and Volvo.

With gasoline prices threatening to rise and budgets growing tighter the economy car may prove vital to millions of families. It might require some sacrifice of comfort or convenience, but the operational economy may be worth such losses. And you will be amazed by the seating room provided.

We have discussed most of the new cars and some of the importations in previous columns. We will not review them here. The complete list of those to be displayed are printed on this page, though there may be a couple changes and at least one model might not be available in time for showing.

An interesting tire demonstration will be part of the show. The Superior Recapping Co., a new firm in Warren, will demonstrate its cold recapping process.

There also will be some door prizes, and to stay within the letter of the law these are signed and deposited outside the show. You do not have to be present for the drawing.

The 40 et 8 uses the funds obtained from this show to finance the training of young ladies who want to be nurses but cannot afford the schooling. This lends added meaning to the name given the event... The Economy Car Show.

EARNED INCOME TAX MAY BE USED TO PROVIDE FUNDS FOR WARREN

Faced with the need for at least 100,000 more a year in order to install storm sewers ($75,000), pave streets ($25,000), raise borough employee salaries, and replace worn equipment, Warren may adopt the wage tax in 1960. The receipts would not be available until 1961, but they might total as much as $80,000.

Alternatives are bond issues and increased real estate millage. But bond issues are very expensive, costing twice the figure borrowed by the time they are paid off, and another three or four mills in real estate taxes might prove heavy on property owners.

The income tax would be levied against salaries, wages, commissions, and net profits from business and professions, and would include both residents and non-residents working or doing business in Warren. Corporations would not be included as this is a personal tax.

Council voted to publish a notice to the effect that it intends to pass an income tax ordinance. The assessment will be one half of one per cent.

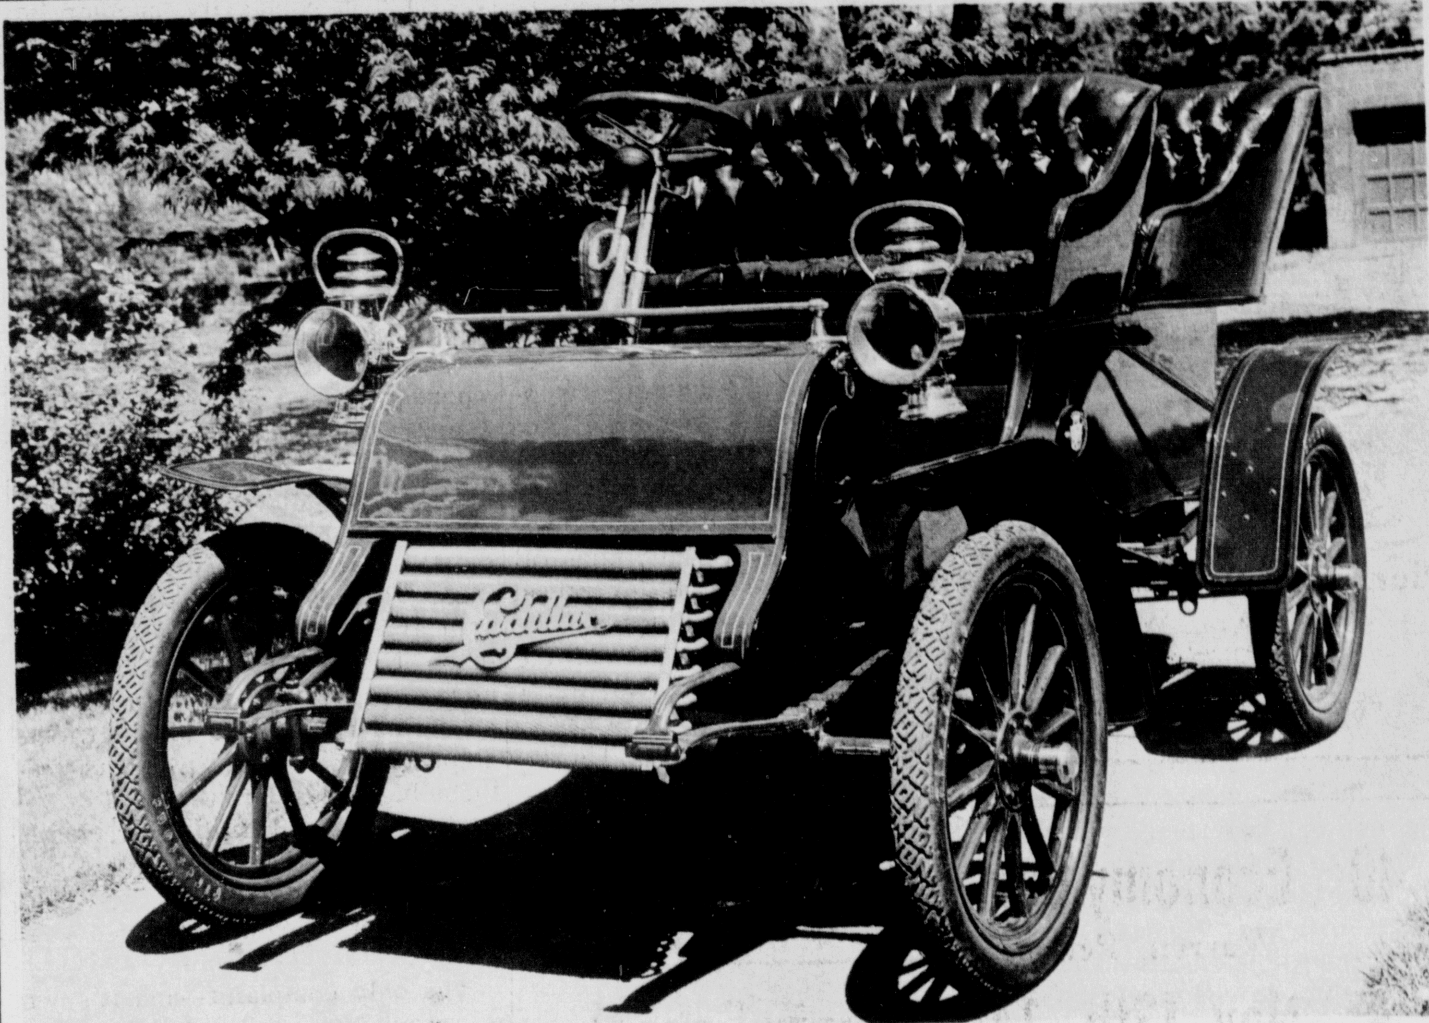

(Editor's note. We predict that the school board will match it with another one half.)

The Monday meeting was opened by an appeal for more wages for park and street employees who work fifty hours a week with no overtime pay and average $1.67 an hour. They want 25 cents more an hour, six paid holidays, and double time for holidays and Sundays.

Attorney Nicholson, speaking for the men, said starting wages in Warren shops average $1.85 an hour, and cost of living has increased 17 cents an hour this past year. The employees had a ten cent raise three years ago, five cents two years ago, and two and a half cents last year.

Finance Chairman Torrance said nothing could be done before the 1960 budget is completed, but he offered to meet with the men during the planning period.

A resolution was approved which permits the Warren Area School Authority to connect drainage pipes to the Glade ave. 18-inch sewer, and requires the extension of that sewer from its Conewango terminal to the Conewango creek.

Council approved the purchase of forty-three duplex parking meters and five single meters from Duncan Parking Meter-Corporation through its distributor, Kuntz Equipment Company, of Pittsburgh. The price will be $4,231.50.

Council voted to buy a police car from Dan's Chevrolet for $2514, less $1265 for its 1958 model, and it voted to ask for bids on a 2-1/2 ton dump truck.

It reappointed J. A. Williams to the ambulance board for a three-year term.

The engineer reported that state men have been surveying Glade run for the flood control project and only five people now are refusing to allow right-of-way rights without court action. Three who were adamant have signed.

The parking ordinance came in for several changes. There will be no parking on the south side of Jackson ave. . . The same goes for the south side of Pennsylvania ave., east from Russell st. to the boro line.

Parking also was eliminated on the west side of East st. between Water and Third, a very narrow stretch in which passing has been impossible. There also were some exceptions approved for time allowed in parking spots near busy downtown corners to keep cars moving with shorter periods.

The parking changes passed two readings and will be given their third in December.

Councilman Yagge said a new site is being considered for the Warren Rescue Inc. and will be proposed for council consideration later. He proposed the use of penalty boxes on Warren's metered streets so that violators may drop their ticket and fifty cents in the receptacles instead of bothering with a justice of the peace trip. And he suggested alternate parking to facilitate cleaning and plowing.

Burgess Rice wondered if Warren has not been too severe in its leaf-burning restrictions. Leaves are piling up and the borough may not get them all trucked away before snow arrives. He doubted if leaf fires were a major danger.

THIS CADILLAC will be seen at the 40th auto show Friday and Saturday in Beaty school. Owned by William F. Crossett, it is a national first prize winner.

It is known as a Model A and was built in 1902, but was shipped a year later. For this reason the fifty Model A Cadillacs made that year were known as the 1903 models.

The car originally was sold in Olean and was run until 1913 when the owner stored it in his cellar. In 1921 a Hudson dealer purchased it for $5 and spent a year repairing it so that it would run. In 1957 Mr. Crossett finally talked the owner into selling it. At its first showing, in the Lake Forest Spring Meet, the 1903 Caddy earned national first-prize honors.

TOWARDS A SINGLE STANDARD

In firing Charles Van Doren, the National Broadcasting Company showed conspicuous courage and I think a high degree of moral principle. For this it is being castigated around the country for cowardice, for hypocrisy, for panic.

Firing Van Doren was the opposite of all those things. In the first place, the mail count was running nine to one in favor of Van Doren.

The network knew there would be outrage. The popular decision would be to keep him, issuing some sort of mealy-mouthed "He has already suffered enough" statement. The decision was to be right, rather than to be popular, and I applaud the network for not yielding to popular sentimentality.

Charles Van Doren is an appealing, curly-haired scion of a distinguished family. He is also a perjurer of deepest hue. He conspired to commit perjury and clung to his perjury until smoked out by overwhelming evidence to the contrary. I feel very sorry for Charles Van Doren but I do not think exceptions should be made in our system of jurisprudence because a man has an audience of millions. The very basis of his being hired by NBC was proved to be false; he compounded the felony by repeating falsehoods over NBC; he broke the law.

We have already established the precedent that murder can be committed among members of the jet set without anyone even being indicted for it. I strongly object to extending this legal immunity to quiz winners, no matter how good-looking, no matter how high their rating.

This is the Dreyfus case in reverse—which is quite a commentary on the American people. In the old country, old hatreds run deep. Here life is a constant popularity contest. Who's in? Who's out? One is never hated here; one is popular or unpopular, at the prom, at the polls, on the air. And when Rep. Springer declared that he hoped Columbia University could be tested, he uttered one of the most thoroughly immoral and yet unquestionably American statements I have ever heard.

The Supreme Court follows the election returns, said Finley Peter Dunne. There is no right or wrong—it's how well you're liked. The attitude at NBC is that there can be no double standard of justice—one for the rich in popularity, another for the poor—and that they're being denounced by editorial writers and drowned in mail.

This is unjust but it is also rich in irony. I can't honestly say that it was television that invented the popularity contest as the only criterion of behavior but, God knows, no other field of endeavor is so rigidly ruled by it. I can't think of any line of work where excellence counts for so little, where right and wrong are entirely a matter of numbers on the rating lists.

If it does nothing else, this whole mess should deal a heavy, perhaps mortal blow to the worship of ratings. There must be some other standard of right or wrong than those. NBC President Robert Kintner's suggestion that quiz-rigging be a Federal offense simply sidesteps the real issue, which is that these big money quizzes should never have been allowed to wreck the program structure in the first place.

"Another Evening with Fred Astaire".
The only complaint—and it's not a complaint, really—I can voice about "Another Evening with Fred Astaire" is that it was awfully like the first evening with Fred Astaire although, in a way, that's about as high a compliment as I can pay. It was a judicious and meticulously presented display of Mr. Astaire's million-dollar personality and million-dollar legs and Miss Chase's million-dollar chassis and the multi-million dollar songs of America's greatest composers—George Gershwin, Irving Berlin, Jerome Kern, Harold Arlen, Arthur Schwartz—and that's quite a bundle.

The arrangement, the tone, the finish—Mr. Astaire rattling off a dozen or so wonderful songs he's introduced—were all like the first show. I didn't particularly care for a bit of nonsense between Mr. Astaire and Jonah Jones over some stools but otherwise it was a great though slavish imitation of the first show.

thers Say ...

OUT OF THE STANDS

Many of us are ill with ulcers, arthritis, heart attacks, strokes and the rest of the human ailments cause we are not sufficiently active. Physical exercise is needed to relieve the tensions that play all of us. These ideas were expressed by Dr. W. W. Bauer recently when he talked to doctors at Atlantic City. The Science News Service has this to say about it: Bicycling would be a popular American form of exercise if our builders would provide parallel paths on all highways.

Cycling is far more popular in Europe than in America, Dr. W. W. Bauer, director, department of physical education of the American Medical Association, reported to the American Public Health Association at Atlantic City, N. J. Chicago recently closed four miles Lake Shore Drive for Pan American cycle race qualifying heats, and in for the races themselves, many lesser streets are being closed for play purposes. Many persons believe that if main business streets can be closed for parades on busy week ends, they can be closed also for cycling and games at appropriate times, he pointed out.

"Americans are currently going out for physical fitness, Dr. Bauer said. He then commented that he considered it to be a "popular act." "How long this interest will be sustained is anybody's guess," he added, pointing out that the American public is famous for lack of enthusiasms and equally sudden boredom.

"Recreation itself may or may not involve activity. There is nothing wrong with the quieter pastimes such as reading, card games, collecting, photography, appreciation of music or other forms of art, he explained. But there must be another facet to fitness -- activity.

"Dr. Bauer then pointed out that emotional unrest turns up in the body as somatic diseases -- ulcers, colitis, hypertension (with emphasis on the tension), arteriosclerosis, heart attacks, strokes and allergies to mention just a few.

"There should be emphasis, during youth, on a personal sport or activity which can be carried on when the demands of adult life render participation in team sports, or in activities requiring much time, space or equipment, impractical. Then such exercises as walking, cycling, gardening, swimming, rowing, golf, mountain climbing, or nature study involving field excursions should get Americans "out of the stands and onto the playing fields," he said."

VFW OPPOSES PENSION LAW

The VFW has supported the new veterans pension law, but is opposed to some pauperism aspects. And we must agree. Here is what they have to say. If you agree, perhaps you can help.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States have taken a stand against the new veterans pension law. In a recent statement, John J. Piparato, Easton, State VFW Commander, spoke out in behalf of the organization's opposition to H.R. 7650, one of the most controversial pieces of veterans legislation passed in recent years. The bill was passed and signed into law during the last session of Congress.

"I don't like the new pension law (P.L. 86-211)," said Commander Piparato. "One of the primary objectives during my term of office will be to support the passage of a separate, liberalized pension program for World War I veterans."

According to Piparato, the new pension law is "a curious mixture of good and bad."

"During the next session of Congress", he said, "the Veterans of Foreign Wars shall work to increase the low income limitations of the new pension; to remove the stigma of 'pauperism' and knock out the 'Corpus test' that penalizes thrift and frugality; and insist that only earned income be a determining factor in establishing income limitations."

"The Veterans of Foreign Wars was far out in front in trying to liberalize the bill before it became law", said the State Commander. "It was supported in final passage only because it grants pension equity to widows of World War II and Korea; increased income limitations under certain conditions; guarantees that no veteran, widow or orphan presently on pension will suffer any loss, and it was estimated that 70 percent of all persons now receiving a pension will get an increase."

"It is my opinion", concluded the Commander, "and the opinion of the VFW, that the law's bad features far outweigh the good. For that reason, we shall leave no stone unturned in an effort to liberalize this program during the next session of Congress."

MEN AT PENN

Dave Fink's 230-647 topped everything when the keggers from the Men's City League rolled last Friday night. Other 600 matches were Al Johnson's 246-633, Art Michel's 223-621, and Fred Baldensperger's 241-604.

In the Jr. Industrial loop Bill Henry was best with a 590 total with a 253 singleton.

Last night in the Industrial loop Dr. Jim Giunta rolled games of 206-236-212 for a 654 total. Bob Sandrock hit 606, and Wally Johnson and Bud Rowland each 601. The Warren County Insurance team hit a new high team total of 2897.

IN SKIRTS

A single game of 205 stood out as Joan Shetty wrapped up a 535 match in the Ladies' City. Jeannette Harvey rolled 512.

Ann Tassone's 477 headed the Ladies' Class C, last night.

MIXED PLAY

In the Friday Nighters' circuit Dr. Raymond Lowe and Bill Rieder paced the males with 553 and 536 matches. For the ladies Marie Heald and Jean Wagner scored 480 and 428 respectively.

In the 400 Block Mixed League Tuesday night Janet Mellander not only led the fairer sex, but the males too. She fired a 533. Cal Olson topped the men with 525.

ON ARCADE LANES

A 564 was marked by Berle Seder, while Jack Colvin hit a single game of 213 in the Shop League. The Exchange Hotel paces the loop with a record of 29-3.

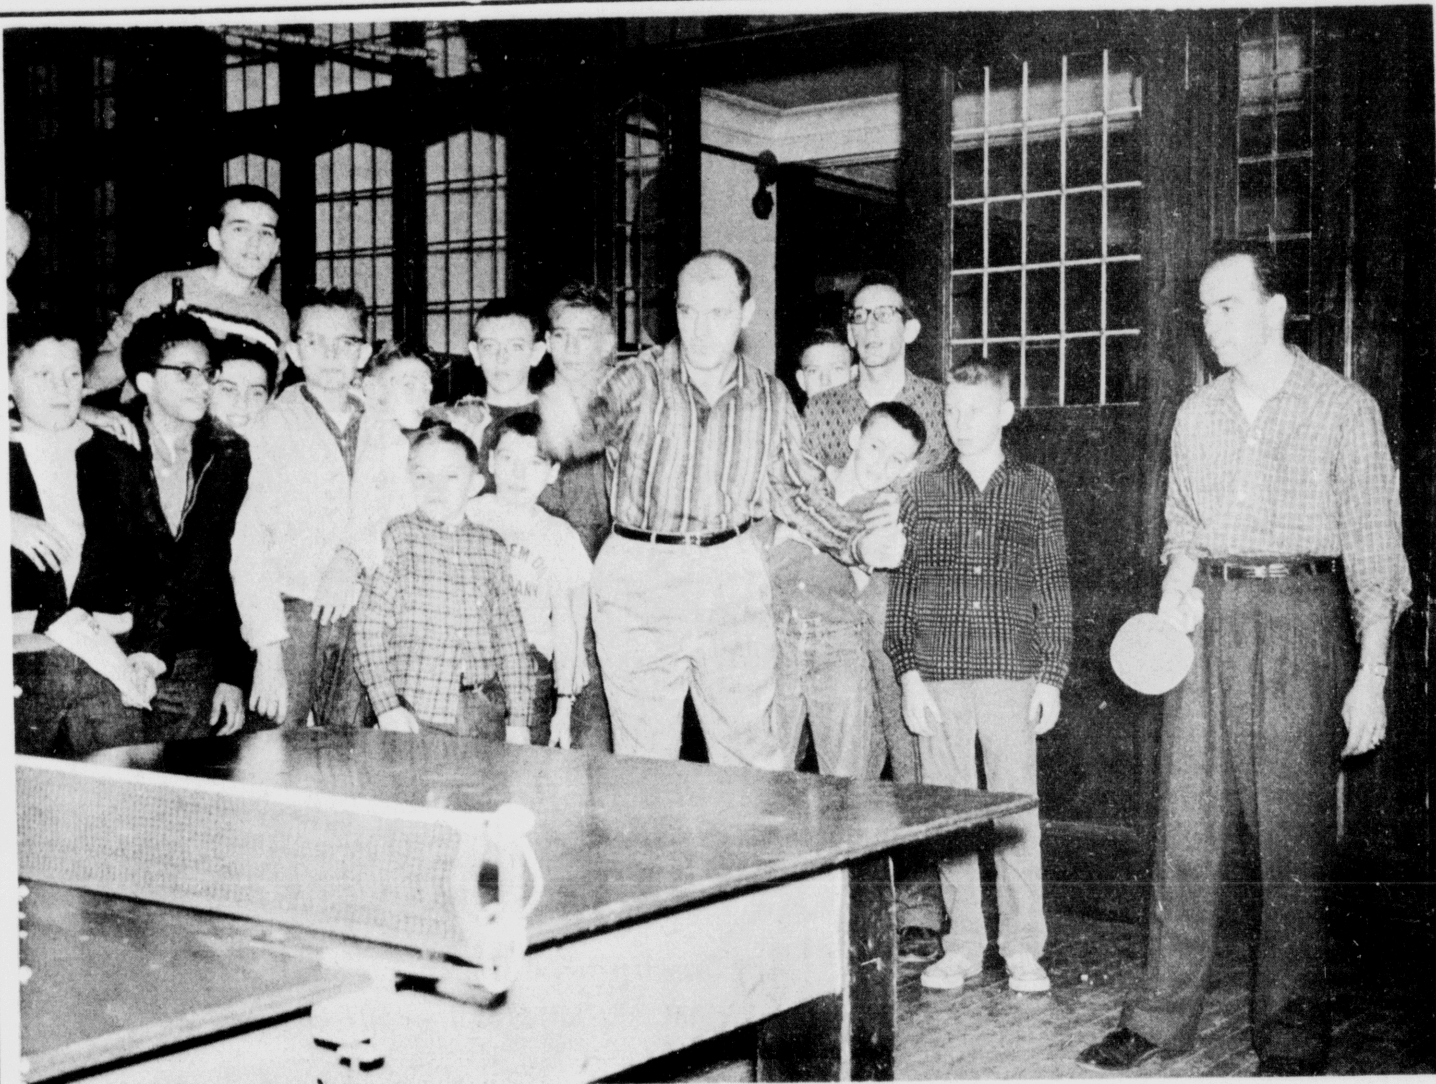

In Pop's Bob Hayes 512 was high.

SPORT

DIM OUTLOOK

Y City League hopes are dying out slowly but surely as the basketball season rolls around. The two teams that have already formed, the Blueberry Hill Inn and the Busy Bee Restaurant, will now have to look elsewhere for hardwood competition. It seems as though the fellows on these two squads are the only ones in Warren who want to play basketball save only a few others.

Talk now has switched to a county league that would include many area teams with the games to be played on the various floors in the county. Such a loop might include fives from Warren, Sheffield, Youngsville, Northern Area, Tidioute, and possibly a couple others. Some of the local boys have already been travelling to play independent ball

STAGE EXHIBITION. Dr. Jack Roop (r.) and Alan Hanson, Jamestown, staged a table tennis exhibition last Saturday for boys of the YMCA.

The demonstration was put on to acquaint the boys with the proper skills and techniques of strictly tournament type table tennis.

Dr. Roop was a member of two U. S. Table Tennis Association committees in 1959, rules and referees. Mr. Hanson is a former Jamestown city champion and has staged several exhibitions with Dr. Roop in the past 10 years.

Karl Henninger (not pictured), 1959 Warren high champion, also took part in the exhibition.

Following the exhibition Dr. Roop officiated one of the Junior YMCA tournament matches in which Ronnie Stureman advanced to the semi finals by defeating Bill Rice 21-16, 20-22, 21-13.

Dr. Roop will provide instruction in table tennis to "Y" members who are truly interested. Same should leave their names at the "Y".

and a league should be formed soon before all interest dies out.

GRAPPLERS TRYOUT

All high school boys interested in wrestling turned out yesterday afternoon at the high school gym where tryouts for the '59 wrestling squad began. Coach Hal Miller has a strong nucleus of seven men returning to build his team around.

WHERE ARE OUR FISH?

If the organized fishermen of the area want to shout a bit they should have a look at the distribution of fish taken from Lake Erie this year. Not one of the 30,000 fishes came to Warren county.

Some nearby counties got a few. North Park lake in Allegheny county got 2,441, most of them yellow perch. Glade Run lake in Butler county received 2,050, and again most of them were yellow perch.

French creek in Crawford county was given 267 smallmouth bass and 282 walleyes. Conneaut lake received 2,269, most of them white bass. Venango got some, and there were other streams in Erie and Crawford counties, but not a minnow arrived for any of our large variety of waters, which range from small runs to lakes.

All of these fish were catchable, ranging from medium to large. Most of them were netted by Commission personnel. The rest were purchased from commercial fishermen operating out of ports near Erie.

SMALL KILL DELIGHTS

We sense a feeling of delight coursing through a news release from the Game Commission in which the opening day of the small game season is discussed. The small kill resulting from poor weather and light hunting leaves game to be killed later, the Commissioners optimistically point out.

This is one we never will understand. What is wrong with an enthusiastic hunter on the opening day? And why shouldn't he come home with a good supply of game?

We want a big sale of licenses and we want a major purchase of equipment but we seem always to hope that the game will be saved for another day. This seems contrary to what should be our true goal.

We would rather see less hunters in the field and a happier bag per nimrod than multitudes out there shooting at tin cans and each other, due to boredom and ineptness. If less game per hunter reduces the number of gunmen, the more able may be left in the field and many who now are toying with the sport and are not true enthusiasts will take up other hobbies.

Financially we see no loss here. Man will spend his leisure time and his money. And the really good hunting areas always will attract a big share of the hunters. Warren county has so many sides to its outdoor recreation possibilities if they are wisely planned and developed that we will reap the harvest whether the vacationers are looking for deer, squirrels fish, boating swimming, photographic subjects, artistic scenes for their oils, or just plain relaxation in quiet camping areas.

So why not give the hunters the best of fall weather in which to play let him kill much game, and may the unhappy ones find another avenue for their sports dollar. It might prove easier on all . . . including the Game Commission and its problem of keeping the forests and fields supplied for the redcoats.

AND LESS FISHING, TOO

The fishermen also are not as many as they have been and this is not a situation peculiar to Pennsylvania. Most of the surrounding states are experiencing the same loss. If you can call it a loss.

In Maryland the sale of licenses has dropped 39 per cent. This is three times the 13 per cent reduction in Pennsylvania.

Ohio fishing license sales are off 8 per cent New Jersey sales are down 3 per cent, New York has lost 4 per cent, and West Virginia is down a bit. Only Delaware has gone up, 9 200 to 9,500.

Again we can not work up a stew over this situation. If streams lined with rod-whippers is fishing most of us don't want any, and will be much happier doing something else. The quality of fishing should improve and also our dispositions.

The wise area will develop all of its potentialities to entice the week-enders and the vacationers.

ARCHERS' FIGURE GROWS

The official figures for the archery season now has gone up to one thousand deer. The final count will reach the average of about 1,300, which was established in the past two falls.

INQUISITIVE FOX

"On patrol in Indiana County last month," says Game Protector J. A. Badger, "I saw a gray fox hunting across a food plot on State Game Lands. Before I could prepare to fire my shotgun that fox disappeared and another came in sight. Both ran into an edge cutting, I followed, saw one fox walking the trunk of a fallen tree, shot twice and brought it down."

After crashing through the tangle, when I stooped to pick up the animal my crow call fell from my pocket. That gave me an idea. I used the device to sound the distress call of the crow. The other gray soon appeared not more than 40 feet away and I had my second fox for the day. Quite a surprise, having No. 2 appear within range after so much disturbance."

SPEARED DEER

"I have picked up hundreds of deer killed on highways", says Game Protector John Spencer, "but last month a dead button buck on Route 940 near Blakeslee, Monroe County presented a new twist. This deer had been pierced through the body by a shaft of chromium from an automobile."

Supervisor Carl Stainbrook told me that during the same month he disposed of a deer, killed on Route 490 between Tobyhanna and Pocono Pines, that had a strip of chrome through one of its legs."

WHS DUMPS RIVALS, 25-13

The Warren High Dragons notched win number 25 in the ancient Warren-Jamestown rivalry last Saturday at Jamestown as they outlasted a younger Jimtown eleven, winning by a 25-13 score. The contest was staged on a muddy Municipal Stadium field which caused a great deal of fumble-itis to both squads, Warren losing the ball seven times and Jamestown five. The Dragons were able to recover only one of their own miscues while the host team fell on three of theirs.

It looked as if the Red Raiders were off and running in the first half as they quickly recovered a Warren fumble and marched to a TD. The loose ball was regained by Jamestown on the Warren 14 and a few plays later the Red Raider quarterback, Fashano, found his left end, Dave Chase, open in the end zone for the score. The point-after was added by Glover and the Blue and White were down by seven points as the first period drew to a close.

Jamestown continued to ride rough-shod over the locals in the second quarter, scoring on continuous line charges and short passes. They hit paydirt, after stopping a Warren drive on their own five, with only a few minutes remaining in the half. Bellavia crashed in from 19 yards out. The PAT attempt was foiled but the Jimtowners left the field at halftime with a comfortable 13 point lead.

The second half belonged to Warren as the Dragons' experience and stamina began to show up. After an exchange of fumbles, the Blue and White halted a drive on their 10. Then, two plays later, Ron Seder was sprung loose on an 87-yard scoring play by some rough downfield blocking by White and Wick. The extra point try was no good and as the third period ended the Dragons were still behind by a 13-6 count.

The final fifteen minutes of play brought pandemonium to the crowd of onlookers which numbered about 5,000. Warren took a punt on the mid-field stripe and marched to the goal with John Colvin carrying the pigskin over from the ten. Kremer lofted a pass for the PAT attempt but it went wide and the Jamestowners were owners of a slim one-point lead.

The kickoff put Jamestown in possession on their own 25 and it was there that Dick White dropped on a loose ball to give the Dragons a break with less than four minutes to go. Colvin, who did some splendid work for the Dragons, moved the oval to the 3-yard line and Ron Seder tucked the ball under his arm and dashed to a TD as the locals finally captured the lead. Ross Kremer added another point as he scored on a roll-out for the PAT. Jamestown awed the fans with some wide open plays from scrimmage but the alert Dragon defense foiled them each time. Fashano was throwing the ball with reckless abandon in a futile attempt to close the gap when White picked one off on the Warren 38 and raced to the end zone to quench any Jamestown hope.

The Dragons were impressive in their final conquest and we congratulate Coach Veights, his staff, and his boys. Much credit must also go to the Red Raiders as they put up a tremendous battle, not giving up until the final gun went off. Coach Walt Colburn was hung in effigy after the game but we are sure the pranksters will regret their action for our neighbors from New York will be heard from in the next few football seasons.

DUKES DUMPED, 12-6

The Jamestown Dukes' hopes of a playoff berth were killed last Saturday evening as they went down to defeat at the hands of the East Lovejoy eleven by a 12-6 count. The game was played on a very sloppy turf at Municipal stadium in Jamestown with the temperature below the freezing point. All these factors added up to spell defeat for the Dukes.

East Lovejoy struck early in the battle with a first period score which the Dukes could not overcome. Twice the Continen were threatening inside the visitor 15 yard line but were stopped short of the goal.

UNDEFEATED CHAMPS

After a long uphill struggle, our northern neighbors, the Northern Area Knights, have finished the 1959 gridiron campaign with an undefeated ranking. The powerful aggregation, coached by Norge Luvison, rolled over eight straight foes accumulating a total of 201 points while holding their opposition to a measly 60.

Their latest conquest, a 6-0 win over Silver Creek, merited the Knights their first Northwestern Conference championship in the school's history. Again, may we congratulate Coach Luvison, his staff, and the undefeated squad.

PAC CROWN

For those interested fans who may have children or friends attending any of the Presidents Athletic Conference schools, John Carroll University has won the 1959 conference championship. JC cinched the title Saturday with a 20-0 victory over Western Reserve. The Carroll eleven sport a 6-0 mark with one game remaining, that with winless W&J this week end. Wayne State of Detroit finished second.

CROSS COUNTRY TITLE

Slippery Rock's cross country team, captained by Warren's Dale Meddock, has snared the State Teachers College cross-country championship. The Rock lads, paced by Dick Shirey who set a new record in the 4.3 mile course, won the title in a meet held at Slippery Rock last Saturday. West Chester was second and Cheyney, third.

FOOTBALL ROUNDUP

With the football campaign drawing rapidly to a close, titles, playoff berths, etc., seem to be in order. Warren finished third in Section Two competition with the Franklin Knights winning the title, sporting an undefeated mark. Northern Area ended the season with a clean slate, whipping Silver Creek 6-0 last Saturday for the Northwestern Football Conference crown.

Up on the lake shore in Erie, Cathedral Prep captured all the laurels in the Erie City League and in the Mercer County loop, Grove City emerged victorious. Union Township in Lawrence county went undefeated for the second straight year to lead all entries in that county and Farrell High, current leaders in their section have a big game with neighbor Sharon remaining on their schedule.

The unofficial listings of the top fifteen teams in northwestern Pennsylvania, rated according to records and points scored for and against, are Aliquippa, Farrell, Bradford, Franklin, Grove City, Erie Academy, Erie Prep, Greenville, Kane, New Castle, Butler, Sharon, Warren, Erie Tech, and Ambridge. Warren finished with a 5-3 record, having amassed 156 points to their opponents 87.

FIRST DOWN, Warren's John Colvin is about to have his back rammed into the turf by a host of Jamestown tacklers. The speedy Dragon back had already moved the pigskin to the Jamestown 12 for an important first down in a WHS drive that was halted on the loser's four yard stripe.

NEVER MADE IT. Into the air go two Jamestown defenders to halt this aerial attempt from Kremer to White. Kremer completed three passes in five efforts for a total of 55 yards.

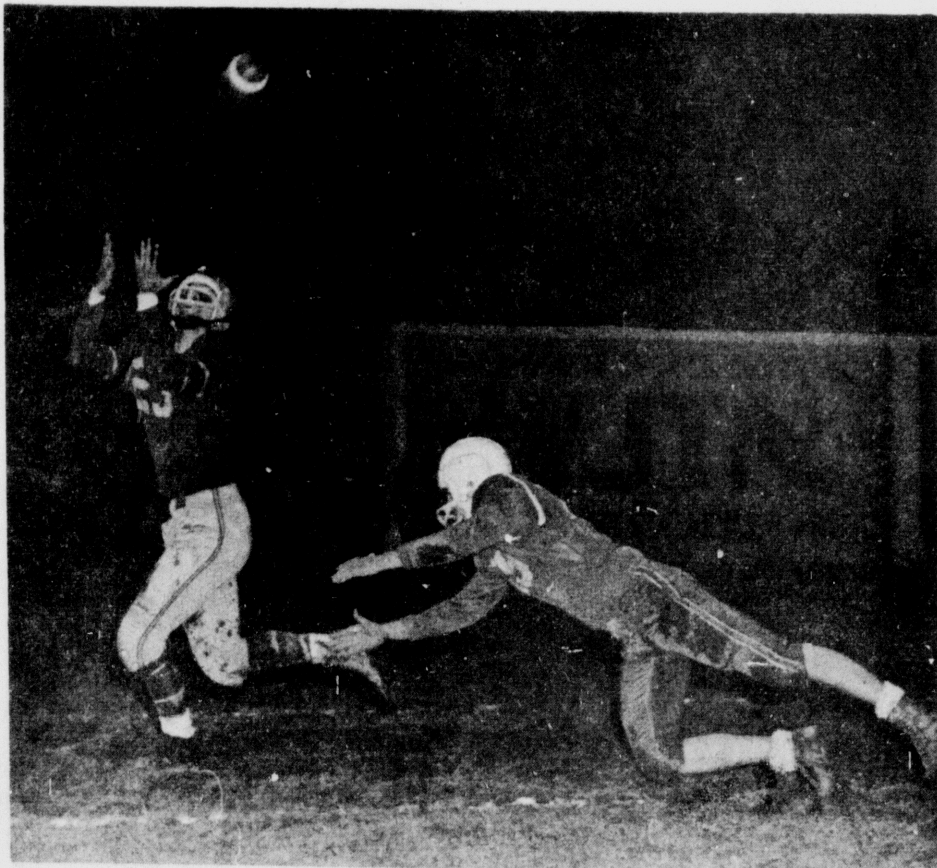

TOOK A CHANCE (AND WON). Jamestown's fine quarterback, Guy Fashano, took a chance on a fourth and three situation on the Warren 45 and tossed a successful pass to his end. The Dragons won the bitterly fought contest by a 25-13 count.

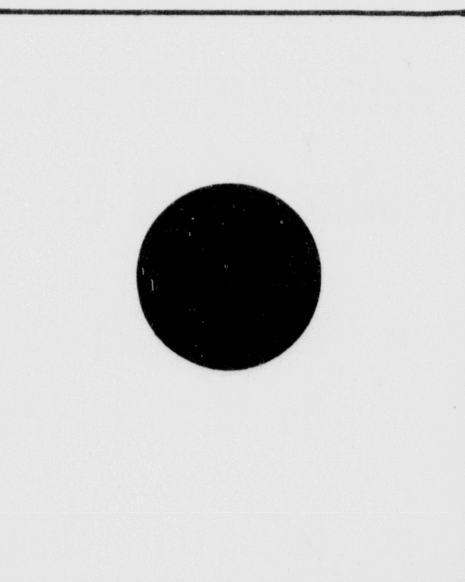

GOT A HAND ON IT. Warren's Dick White got a hand on this toss from Kremer but couldn't hold it. The action which occurred in the fourth period almost netted Warren a TD. They later moved in to score.

PAVING THE WAY for John Colvin is Warren tackle John Mead as Warren rolls up its second TD. Some vicious blocking was done by the Dragon forward wall to break loose the Blue and White backs.

TOUCHDOWN. Dave Chase, Jamestown end, gathers in a heave from quarterback Fashano in the first quarter of Saturday's game. The receiver got behind Dragon back Ron Seder to chalk up the TD.

Do-it-yourself electrical work can be deadly!
Call an Electrician.

Don't give fire a place to start!

RAMBLING RON Seder appears to be getting up off the ground but he is actually bracing a fall, a quick-thinking action which netted him a few more yards. Ron scored the Dragon's first TD with an 87 yard scamper.

In Brief

HOLD-UP UNCUSSESSFUL. Two unidentified young men were scared off by an unaware customer when they attempted to hold-up the Toy-land shop about three miles west of Youngsville on Route 6 at 6:45 o'clock Wednesday night.

The pair had entered the toy store and informed Mrs. Pallow, who was in charge, that it was a stick-up. But a customer walked in to the store and the two fled through the side entrance and raced away west on Route 6 in their auto.

One man was identified as 5-10 in height, stocky with dark brown hair worn in a crew cut. He wore a blue-gray check sport jacket. The other, about 5-8, was also stocky and wore a blue or black turtle-neck sweater with a brown leather jacket.

State Police and the sheriff's office are investigating.

POLIO CLINICS will be held again in Warren County on Saturday, Nov. 21st. A complete schedule will be published in the Observer next week.

FOUND GUILTY. After deliberating for an hour Thursday afternoon, the jury brought in a verdict of guilty against Albert I. French, R. D. 2, Warren. He had been charged with incestuous fornication.

The court will pass sentence at 2 p.m. Monday.

NEW OFFICERS for the Allegheny Regional Safety Council will be elected and installed at a 6:30 dinner-meeting to be held next Thursday in the Penn-Laurel Motel. David Levine, of Penn Furnace, is the current president of the council, which takes in Warren, Elk, and McKean counties.

Prior to the dinner the delegation will take a tour of United Refining Co. at 3 o'clock.

PARKED CAR HIT

Wednesday evening about 6:45 p.m., a parked car owned by Jerry and Carolyn Hansen, 118 Orchard st., was hit by a vehicle operated by Norman Striet, 5 Alson st., Warren. Striet was travelling west on Madison ave. when he hit the parked auto in front of 1107 Madison.

About $200 damage was done to the Hansen vehicle and $150 to the Striet machine.

LOST CONTROL

Dean Lester, 17, of 118 Elm st., Warren, was travelling north on Park ave. when he lost control of his vehicle while negotiating a curve. The auto skidded and jumped the curb, striking a house owned by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Woodley, 210 Park ave.

$25 damage resulted to the Lester car and about $100 to the Woodley property. The mishap occurred Wednesday at 7:57 p.m.

ARRESTED AND ARRAIGNED before the Justice of the Peace was Jon E. Larson, 75, of 116 N. Irvine st., on a charge of drunken driving following an accident which occurred Tuesday afternoon at 3:45 p.m. Larson was proceeding east on Fourth ave. when he struck parked cars owned by Maxine M. Lytle, 833 Fourth ave., Catherine Edwards, 825 Fourth ave., and Howard W. Jarvis, 215 Russell st.

Damage to the Larson vehicle was $75 and a total of $65 to the parked autos.

TUESDAY MISHAP. An accident occurred Tuesday afternoon involving autos operated by Arthur Streeter, 114 Davis st., Youngsville, and John Zimbauer, 606-1/2 Conewango ave. Zimbauer was proceeding north on Market st. and had turned west into Pennsylvania avenue when Streeter pulled out from a parking space into Zimbauer's path.

$50 damage was done to the Streeter auto and about $25 damage to the Zimbauer machine.

THE LIQUOR CONTROL BOARD yesterday issued a warning to liquor store managers and clerks to be especially vigilant during the holiday season to prevent the sale of alcoholic beverages to anyone under 21 years of age.

Personnel are also urged to be alert in forestalling the sale to adults of liquor or wine which minors may plan to consume, and are reminded they are required by law to prohibit sales to any person who is insane, visibly intoxicated, or of known intemperate habits.

A TRAINING COURSE for prospective Candy Strippers at Warren General Hospital will be conducted this coming January. The course consists of orientation classes for two Saturday mornings to familiarize young girls with the hospital procedures and facilities.

Any Warren County girl may apply who is 15 or over, or who will be 15 by the time she starts working after class. Application blanks may be obtained from the guidance office at the high school and at Beaty; at the reception center in the hospital, or from Mrs. J. F. Crane or Mrs. James Barrett, co-chairmen of the Hospital Auxiliary program. After filling out the form it may be mailed in to the hospital or left at the school office.

FIELD WORK in the 1959 Census of Agriculture has started locally and a force of census takers are visiting every farm in the area. Farm census questionnaires have been mailed to all farm operators. The census takers will pay their visit to collect the questionnaires and, if necessary, assist the farmer in filling out the report form.

FIRST PIECE OF LAND acquired for the construction of the Kinzua Dam was filed Thursday afternoon in the office of register and recorder Gurney Ball (l.). Horton Smith (r.), attorney from the Army Corps of Engineers from Pittsburgh, made the deed transaction.

The property acquired was from Wayne C. Grant, Jr., and Robinell Grant, and is located above the Jinks Hotel at Big Bend.

RELOCATED. F. Walter Ahlquist, Jr., agent for State Farm Insurance Co., has relocated his offices at 424 Pennsylvania ave., W., in Warren, for the convenience of his clients.

Mr. Ahlquist has been affiliated with State Farm for over eleven years and belongs to the firm's Career Club, membership in which is attained by outstanding production in auto, fire and life insurance.

IN COLLEGES. Three Warren high school graduates who have enrolled at Gannon College are James Carbon, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Carbon, 101 Walnut st.; Joseph M. Castagnino, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Castagnino, 9 Wetmore st.; and Thomas E. Gibson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Gibson, 314 East st.

Leon B. Kornreich, Warren, has been selected to join the 85-voice Men's Glee Club at Bucknell University this year. A junior, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Myer A. Kornreich, 304 Crescent Park, Warren.

The appointment of Miss Judith Ann Hutchens, Warren, to the Cedar Crest College Concert Choir in Allentown has been announced. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmet E. Hutchens, 11 Cedar st.

MEN IN SERVICE. On a five-week large-scale field training exercise with the 3rd Armored Division in Wildflecken, Germany, is Army Pvt. Francis M. Spicer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emerson H. Spicer, Route 2, Warren. The training is scheduled to end on November 20.

THE ANNUAL VETERAN'S DAY service was held in Warren Wed. at the Soldiers and Sailors Monument.

Wreaths in memory of the dead were placed by (l. to r.) John G. Donovan, commandant of the Marine Corps League; Axel Nasman, commander of the V. F. W.; and Ed Stahl, commander of the American Legion post.

The 22-year-old soldier graduated from Northern Area Joint High School in 1955 and entered the Army in February of 1959.

PAST PRESIDENTS' NIGHT was observed Monday by the Warren Industrial Management Association.

Leading officers of the past greeted were George Juline, John Berdine, C. Ray Lewis, David C. Levine, Harry E. Cooper, Richard W. Swanson, Melbourne Karlson, Chris A. Pepke, Floyd W. Reed, and Robert W. Newman.

WARREN GENERAL HOSPITAL Auxiliary next April will be host to the Northwestern Pennsylvania Hospital Auxiliaries meeting.

Deaths

TWO DEATHS were reported by Warren General Hospital at press time this morning. The deceased are RICHARD JOHNSON, 122 Water st., Warren, and EBBY NELSEN, 108 1/2 Canton st., Warren. The Peterson Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements for Mr. Johnson, and Lutz-VerMilyea for the latter.

WILLIAM KARNs, Warren County Veteran's Administrator, was the principal speaker at the Veteran's Day program.

BUYERS' CORNER

A VALIANT VALIANT

The Valiant has arrived in Warren and is being shown for the first time at the 40 et 8 Economy Auto Show. We believe the public will like this one. It has a price that compares with the others, and it has enough room to handle a small family, even on long trips. A happy combination.

The one we drove was equipped with the works, power steering, power brakes, automatic shift, and the usual luxuries. It sold for less than $2500.

The Valiant rides exceptionally well and handles curves almost as well as a small sports car. It has plenty of leg room, both front and back, and the rear compartment size is astounding.

It has revolutionary lines for an American car with a front grill which originally was developed on European cars and has been adapted to several American models. It is low, but not uncomfortably so.

It has an entirely new engine, a slanted six, which never has been used on American cars. But it is not new to the motoring world. Europeans have successfully and economically operated such a motor.

We already have written that you should not buy a compact until you have tried them all. We are convinced of this after driving the Valiant. The new American compacts offer surprisingly wide variety and you should see all of them to find which fits your situation.

One aspect of the compacts is to be noted. They offer much more room than the importations. And in some cases you don't pay much more. In other cases the difference is several hundred dollars. But the cubic foot difference also is great.

Each has its points, and you have your wants. We believe that today the American motorist can decide definitely what he prefers, almost to the square inch, degree of power, amount of driving economy, and he will find it on a local dealer's floor, imported or domestic.

Observations

By Bob Walsh

WAR SOON WILL BE IMPOSSIBLE?

Defense against war preparations soon will be so easily effected that there will be no reason why the major nations of the world cannot settle the disarmament differences. Film now is available that will photograph by the light of the stars and soon there will be cameras that can be carried by satellites and record clear pictures of objects on the ground that are as small as two feet in size.

United Nations satellites so equipped can reveal every action that is occurring on this earth. War would be made difficult, and with other knowledge now developing it would be so impractical as to be impossible.

But of course it always has been impractical.

So perhaps it never will be impossible.

Our nearest hope is that it will become so impractical that no one can win.

Our farthest hope is that civilization will advance sufficiently to make it a moral outcast.

Meanwhile, we must decide if this nation is more concerned with balancing the budget than it is with maintaining its existence.

We must decide if the emphasis should be on Buy America or directed at saving the human race.

While we bicker over a few pennies an hour and minor work regulations, others make steel for war machines and sell us more than we sell them.

While a great moral issue faces the peoples of the earth we are unable to cope with our own juvenile problems, our racketeers, and the fixation with "the fix" which plagues our society from television to petty traffic tickets . . . from top flight efforts to manipulate and destroy a great public accomplishment like TVA, to petty politics on the county level which would keep conscientious men from serving the people.

Control of the many by the few dominates society, our economics, and our government. It starts with two-bit county politics, reeks through an antiquated government in Harrisburg, and moves into the United States Presidential arena where the people have nothing to say about the nominations.

The parties leave us little from which to choose. While the errors of the White House are easy to spot, the Democrat congress has offered nothing better and has allowed itself to be dominated by a Republican in Democrat clothing from Texas, Senator (Big Oil) Johnson.

The thought that undedicated men are even considered as Presidential candidates in times so vital to our nation is a condemnation of those who control conventions. And the alternatives offered to the available men of real stature and ability are not encouraging to those who have hopes of continuing as a great nation . . . or even as a nation.

The United States fiddles with its budget while the Russians fly around the moon.

We pinch our pennies during an expanding economy while our schools operate in decadent buildings and with over-crowded classes taught by underpaid teachers.

We complain about taxes but lack the courage to correct our tax equalities and the public which wants all it can get is not willing to pay for it with fair assessments that can be plainly seen. In fact, the reason we do not have fairer taxes is that any politician who attempts to do something about it risks defeat at the polls.

We are ignorant as a people concerning public affairs and nothing will be done to correct that situation until we elect leaders with the courage to provide adequate educational enlightenment.

And if these statements make you angry, it is because they, and many more that can be added, are true.

If they don't anger you it is probably because you are one of those who have tried to remedy the situation and are discouraged.

Which somehow brings us back to our original observations about the tremendous steps taken in the development of cameras and film that from the height of a satellite can photograph the details of a roof top.

Which suggests that people who live in glass houses, shouldn't, and even moon bathing may become passe before international mayhem.

ASIDES

FOUR WEEKS AWAY

If you are waiting for an item which has not been manufactured because of the lack of steel, you probably will not receive it inside of four weeks, and then you would have to be one of the very first. It will take four weeks for new steel to be processed all the way from pig iron to the finished product.

Then inventories must be built up and deliveries made to the retailers before you can walk in and buy what you want. There may be a large number of gift certificates under the Christmas trees this season if your retailer is not already well supplied.

WE'LL MISS THIS CAR

The Warren auto show this week end will not have the latest addition to the 1959 fleet of new cars. It is a Curtiss-Wright Air-Car. It was shown for the first time in New York the first of this week.

The car travels on air and will go

We Give S & H
Green Stamps
Wills Cleaners
Warren, Pa.

over land, water, mud, swamp, or deep snow. A cushion of low pressure air keeps it moving along without benefit of wheels.

Now if they will fuel one on air the true economy car will be here.

THE CRANBERRY SCARE

There will not be so many cranberries eaten this Christmas no matter how much publicity is used by the growers and canners. When the Food and Drug Administration revealed that a weed killer used in Oregon and Washington cranberry areas includes an agent which causes cancer in rats the damage was done.

Cranberry industry spokesmen denied that the agent had been proved capable of causing cancer in humans and that you couldn't eat enough on the berries to hurt you if you consumed a ton.

We have another example here of a weakness in our food and drug laws. If this product has such characteristics it should not even be on the market. We test our food and drug products after they are being sold, and then condemn them. It is a reverse approach that harms both the consumer and the producer.

TEN BILLION TO SELL YOU

You and the rest of us were worth ten billion dollars in sales pitches in the "recession" year of 1958. That much was spent on United States advertising.

The biggest share was spent on newspaper space, over three billion dollars. Television collected about one and a third billion dollars. Magazines enjoyed $766 million worth.

The ad appeals cost one and a half billion in direct mail approaches. Radio was far down the line with a total of $615 million.

Most of the money spent on radio was for local advertising, $368 million. This was better than the $248 million spent locally on television, but there are many more radio stations to cut up the melon and the tv boys lean on network's $709 million and $397 in spots (much of which also may be local).

The newspapers cleaned them, of course, on the local scene, receiving two and a half billion (yes, billion) dollars for local advertising. And the national take for the press also was tops, $768 million.

Astonishing was the amount spent by the two leaders. Procter and Gamble checked out nearly $99 million, and General Motors spent a little over $92 million. Americans apparently are prolific bathers and motorists.

ANSWERS FOR VETERANS

The Veterans Administration regularly puts out a series of questions and answers in an effort to help the puzzled veterans. Here are a few that are timely:

Q -- I have some talent in art, and I am eligible for training under the War Orphans Education Act. Can I take commercial art instruction under the War Orphans program?

A -- Yes, You may take any of several types of training below the college level. Commercial art school training would be quite in order.

Q -- I recently had a little wind-fall of money. Can I pay off part of my GI loan mortgage in advance without the lender making a penalty charge?

A -- Yes, that is possible under the law. You can pay off all or part of your mortgage ahead of time, and there will be no penalty charge whatever. The advance sum paid must be not less than $100 or one monthly payment, whichever is smaller.

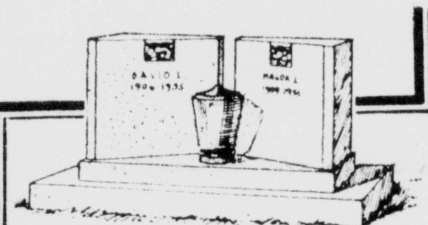

Q -- How does a veteran get into a VA hospital? Is there a priority system?

A -- Yes. Service-connected veterans are admitted first, then non-service-connected cases, if a hospital bed is available, and the veteran is unable to pay for private care.

Q -- A friend of ours, a disabled veteran, was injured while training under VA's vocational rehabilitation program. May he receive VA hospital care for his injury if he should need it?

A -- Yes. If he needs VA hospitalization he may receive it.

GO TO IT

The mountain of entertainment, the lack of which many people so often lament as they look down their noses at home talent, is not apt to come to us, but there is no reason why we can't buy a ride and go to it. And the mountain is just a few leagues east in little old New York.

The big city is not in a foreign land as it must have seemed to those whose horsepower could be hooked to a hitching post instead of by a parking meter. A trip to New York is no more of a problem today than a week end in Buffalo or Erie was a few years ago.

There are three railroad lines and the planes for easy travel. You can sleep to New York Friday night, see matinee and evening performances on Saturday, attend one of the somewhat awesome city churches Sunday morning, and sleep your way home, fresh for Monday morning. And the planes are even more satisfactory if your problem is time.

The best, of course, is enticed into the city where the crowds are large and the money is likewise. You will find the tops in plays, some perhaps not on Broadway but not far off the main beat. The opera is underway, the musicals are sparkling, and you even can find poetry recited entertainingly in the midst of all this sophistication.

A glance at any leading metropolitan newspaper offers so much to do in the theatrical field that the first-timer is confused in his choice. Should he attend a headliner that has been packing them in for several years or take a chance on a newcomer? Why not mix it up and see one of each. And why only one trip?

My Fair Lady still jams them after better than 1500 performances. Right behind in the number of performances is The Music Man with about half the run of the Lady. The World of Suzie Wong is next, followed by Pleasure of His Company, Flower Drum Song, La Plume de Ma Tante, and a string of others with less than a year before the lights.

Among the new ones is The Girls Against the Boys, which sounds exciting but it doesn't seem to be sending the critics. A headline comment in the New York Times calls it low comedy.

Neighboring theatres often offer the best drama and there are some good ones going not far from Broadway these days and nights. The Big Knife is doing a revival and Ballad of Jazz Street is a new one.

Remember, of course, that not all attractions can be seen on week ends. And even if they could you might not get tickets. Such a one will open next week. It has an advance sale exceeding two million dollars, and this includes 330 theatre parties.

The reason for this optimism is the music and Mary Martin. She is in the lead and the music is by Rodgers and Hammerstein. The name is The Sound of Music. If it doesn't go there will be some sick parties.

But it probably will have no trouble and if you want a seat, don't name a date. Choose a week. A quarter of a million dollars worth of mail orders already have been returned because they were too specific.

If it is opera you like the Metropolitan is doing a half dozen per week. This week end for example you can hear La Traviata Sunday afternoon and Il Trovatore that evening.

And we promised you poetry. The Poetry Group Players meet on Thursdays with such readers as Betty Field, Will Geer, and others. On November 19, for example, Stephen Spender will read from his own work.

The choice is expansive, allowing you to find that which fits your mood and taste. Perhaps you would prefer to mix a Broadway hit with a first run movie. The much publicized "30" starts showing next week with Jack Webb who directs and acts in the newspaper drama. David Niven and Mitzi Gaynor open in Happy Anniversary, and you can see The Mouse That Roared, The Miracle, and the one you probably won't see in Warren. The Lovers, a French morsel of amour in the impurest sense of the word.

There seems no end to the attractions, which suggests you can pick most any week or week end for your big stint in the orchestra, or under the eaves, depending on your good fortune, and you will return perhaps a little less happy with your lot in the country. It should be a comfort to know that culture and lovers are so close.

HOW Water Works

HERE IS THE NAVY'S NEWEST CAMERA, THE AQUAFLEX. BUILT LIKE A SUBMARINE. THIS CAMERA CAN RECORD UNDERWATER CONDITIONS FOR STUDY ON LAND. THE CAMERA ADJUSTS TO WHATEVER WATER PRESSURE NECESSARY, WILL FLOAT, SINK, RISE OR STAY AT ANY DESIRED LEVEL, FOR THE BEST 'SHOOTING'.

Do You Know...?

IF YOU WISH TO CUT DOWN IRONING-TIME, HANG WASHABLE SLACKS BY THE CUFFS. THE WATER WEIGHT PULLS OUT MOST OF THE WRINKLES, THEREBY REDUCING MUCH WORK WITH THE IRON.

Rockefeller Moves In

By Marquis Childs

(Editor's note: This is the second of three articles evaluating the position of Governor Nelson Rockefeller in today's political field of the Republican party.)

NEW YORK. -- With the efficiency, the large resources and the full quota of experts characteristic of all Rockefeller operations the Rockefeller-for-President movement is being organized on an if-and-when basis. With the first test in the New Hampshire primary in March the Rockefeller forces already have their friendly representatives in virtually every township in the state.

No one admits to this. On the contrary the desire for the present is to carry on with as little publicity for the movement itself as possible while the candidate is gradually unveiled to the national gaze.

The current phase is comparable to the spring and early summer of 1958 when Nelson Rockefeller, who had never run for public office in his life, was trying to decide whether or not to go out for the Republican nomination for Governor of New York State. He recalls today that most people around him were opposed. They argued that it was almost certain to be a Democratic year. He would be defeated and that would be the end of his political ambitions.

In a somewhat different form he is hearing the same arguments today. Vice-President Nixon already has the nomination sewed up, he is being told, Nixon is the overwhelming choice of the regulars and if you try to supplant him you will tear the party in two.

Governor Rockefeller listens to these arguments with the same outwardly impassive seriousness that he hears out those who tell him that he must run this time, that he is the only Republican who can win, that the nation needs a President who will demand what America requires for national security and economic growth.

When the time comes, in late December or early January, Rockefeller will himself give the signal. He has already gone a long way and just as in the summer of '58 his saying "yes" has more and more a look of inevitability.

The readings taken by the Rockefeller agents in New Hampshire are favorable. A small state with only 14 delegates, New Hampshire nevertheless presents the first test and it has been traditionally fought over for a first herald of victory. If the New York Governor could defeat Nixon there he would be on his way.

Already one Republican Senator from the region, George Aiken of Vermont, has publicly predicted this outcome. Others with a knowledge of the state are saying the same thing privately. A graduate of Dartmouth, Rockefeller has maintained a close association with the college and the state and Rockefeller philanthropies have shed their blessings on the New Hampshire landscape.

The Governor could go in there and in three or four days just campaign the hell out of that state, his associates are already saying. The deadline for filing a delegate slate is February 6 and the primary comes on March 8.

Reports are circulating that Nixon may not enter New Hampshire. But this would be a confession of doubt only slightly less damaging than defeat. In a recent swing through the state Nixon had been encouraged to believe that he would have the support of the organization of Senator Styles Bridges.

Such calculations are not in the foreground of the current Rockefeller operation. What he is doing now is getting the professionals, the county and state committeemen and the national chairman used to having him around. He laughs a little about it, saying that at the outset they were almost afraid to see him coming around. He was the intruder in the happy Eden where Nixon and the Nixon regulars had the place to themselves.

This is beginning to alter. The ice was broken in Illinois. If he achieves the same result in California and Oregon with the Western state chairmen he will be satisfied. It is a cautious ground-breaking operation. In the rear of the candidate's advance the weapons of political battle are being readied.

Now that he is out in front he is bound to become the target of brickbats from the opposition. He is being scored against for the things he does not say as well as what he says. His speeches are called platitudinous, empty, boring. The Chicago Tribune has already viewed him darkly as a crypto-New Dealer whom the money powers of Wall Street are preparing to put over on the Republican party as they put over Wendell Wilkie, Thomas E. Dewey and General Eisenhower. For the Tribune and for many right-wing Republicans Rockefeller would be another calamity.

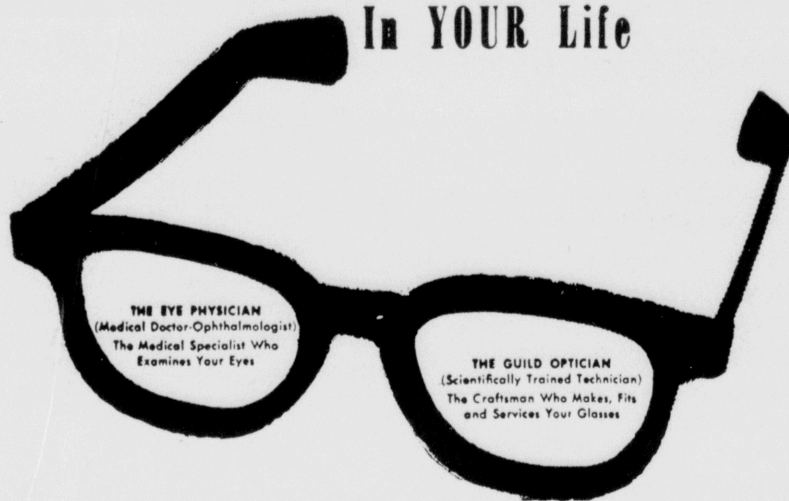

The parallel with the bitter quarrel between the backers of Eisenhower and the late Senator Robert A. Taft does not bear too close examination. While Rockefeller has political sex appeal he is far from being a great national hero in the mold of Ike. Nor is the agile Nixon, with his great talent for sensing a shift in the wind and adjusting to it, a Taft. But politicians, even the orthodox regulars, do like to win elections, and by convention time next year the Governor of New York may look more like a winner than the Vice-President.

TE LA DI O

FOR RADIO LISTENERS

The Metropolitan Opera will begin its season of broadcasts on CBS Radio Saturday, Nov. 28, with a performance of Verdi's "Aida". Twenty-one complete operas will be broadcast directly from the stage of the opera house during the 1959-60 season. Broadcast time will be 2:00 p.m. Milton Cross will be commentator. Intermission features will be "Opera News on the Air" with Boris Goldovsky and Norman Dello Joio; "Opera Quiz" with Edward Downes as quizmaster; and Clifton Fadiman's interviews as "Roving Reporter."

IKE WILL NOT BE ALONE

President Eisenhower will have plenty of company when he makes his tour to nine countries on three continents next month. The NBC and CBS networks are planning heavy coverage of the trip. Chartered planes, mobile units and processing centers will aid the speeding of video tapes to the American audience. ABC will send a couple of correspondents on the tour. Its coverage will not be as elaborate but in the past the baby network has distinguished itself by its clear-cut reporting.

JUST WONDERING

"Murder and the Android" which we saw Sunday night on NBC's "Showcase" was certainly an imaginative bit which makes one wonder about mankind's future existence, especially if he becomes proficient in flitting from planet to planet.

We don't mean to be too critical, or do we, but we were somewhat amazed when we saw a showpiece revolver (loaded and ready to go) removed from its place of exhibition and used to kill. Apparently it had been hanging on the wall for four hundred years just waiting to be useful again.

Four hundred years from now should see some innovations in parlor mayhem definitely outdating the derringer. And another thought; with current research in tissue and organ transplants, surely in a few more centuries medical science will have advanced to the stage where even a well-placed bullet will be of little consequence. Except for these little realities on an unreal show, "Murder and the Android" was good for a bang-up space kick.

CHANNEL CHATTER

THE GOLDEN CIRCLE, an hour-long musical special with Eydie Gorme and Steve Lawrence as singing hosts, and the Andrews Sisters, Frankie Avalon, Nat "King" Cole, the Mills Brothers and Rudy Vallee as guest stars, will be presented Wednesday, Nov. 25, on the ABC-TV network. Theme of the show will be a salute to the past quarter century of song with many of your old favorites to be heard.

SID CAESAR and Audrey Meadows will team with guest stars Jose Ferrer, Marge and Gower Champion and Connie Francis in Caesar's second special for the CBS network on Wednesday, Dec. 2. Titled "Marriage-Handle With Care", the show will be a mixture of Victorian family life, modern split-level living with an operatic look at Italian courtship for good measure.

GATEWAYS TO THE MIND, the story of the human senses, will be repeated by the Bell System Science Series Sunday, Dec. 6 on NBC-TV. A new program is being prepared for February telecast and "The Alphabet Conspiracy" will be repeated March 20.

LUCILLE BALL will present her proteges in the Desilu Workshop Theatre in an hour-long musical Dec. 25 from 9 to 10 p.m. Lucille and husband Desi Arnaz may take a leave of absence from television at the end of this season, as Lucille expects to star in a Broadway show next fall and Desi is considering a stage production. Desilu Playhouse will be on an alternate-week schedule starting in January.

MERMAN ON BROADWAY, a musical starring Ethel Merman, has been rescheduled by NBC-TV from Dec. 1 to Nov. 24.

GRAMMY WINNERS who will appear on the "National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences Awards" program Sunday, Nov. 29 on NBC-TV, will be Van Cliburn, Jonah Jones, Ella Fitzgerald, Bobby Darin, Duke Ellington, Shelley Berman, Jimmy Driftwood and the Mormon Tabernacle Choir. The winning categories will be officially announced the night of the program.

DUPONT SHOW OF THE MONTH will present Dickens' "Oliver Twist" on CBS on Dec. 4, 7:30-9 p.m. Eric Portman will be cast as Fagin, Robert Morley as Beadle and the role of young Oliver is yet to be filled.

JOSEPH N. WELCH, prominent trial attorney who has made many teevee appearances since the Army-McCarthy hearings in 1954, will be host for Ford Startime's pre-Christmas show on Dec. 22. As previously announced the program will star Leonard Bernstein, Marian Anderson, St. Paul's Cathedral Boys' Choir of London and the Westminster Choir of Princeton, N.J.

CHRISTOPHER PLUMMER, Ruth Roman and Don DeFore have been added to the cast of "The Philadelphia Story" on NBC-TV Monday, Dec. 7. They will join previously announced Mary Astor, Diana Lynn and Gig Young.

IBSEN HEROINE — Julie Harris is amused, pleading, amazed and understanding during the course of the 90-minute colorcast production of Henrik Ibsen's "A Doll's House," which the "Hall of Fame" will present on the NBC-TV Network Sunday, Nov. 15. Miss Harris portrays Nora Helmer, a young woman under the thumb of a masterful husband. She co-stars with Christopher Plummer, Eileen Heckart, Jason Robards Jr. and Hume Cronyn.

Local State Farm Insurance Man Moves Office

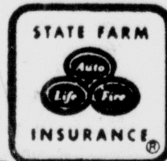

"Just want my friends to know I'm moving," he said today. A familiar figure in this community, he will continue to handle family insurance needs...including Auto, Life and Fire Insurance... in his new location. Expanding business and need for extra office space were given as reasons for this move. It seems that more people are buying State Farm insurance every day here.

TWILIGHT ZONE at 10 p.m. on WBEN presents Burgess Meredith as Henry Bemis, a meek little bank teller whose sole interest in life is reading, and who is the last man left alive on earth after the bomb falls in "Time Enough to Last."

Low Women Excluded

By Inez Robb

Despite the puritan attitude adopted by sponsors of the proposed World's Fair to be held in New York in 1964, Miss Sally Rand has selflessly offered to wave her fans on the Midway when it opens.

However, the fair board has already announced that its Midway will be innocent of hanky-pank or burlesque in any form, especially the undraped female form divine.

This is undoubtedly all to the good, even for Miss Rand, for Mama is no longer here to help her so conspicuously to success as she did at San Francisco's World Fair on Treasure Island in 1939.

Of course, Mama's help was accidental. But I am not the only one who felt it played a decisive role in the ultimate public response to Miss Rand's "Nude Ranch," one of the more conspicuous attractions on the Treasure Island Midway.

Mama and I were both in San Francisco when Treasure Island opened. On an evening that began quite innocently, friends took us to dinner on the island and afterward for a look-see along the Midway.

Now, we in the family were always very proud of Mama. She was one of the two or three women I have ever known who had a carriage as regal as the late Queen Mary's. Indeed, Mama, who was tall, slim and blessed with snow-white hair and innocent blue eyes, looked a little like Her Majesty (and often acted that way, too), except that she rejected the toques.

In an unguarded moment, our host bought tickets to Sally's Nude Ranch. My only excuse is that I had never seen a burlesque show in my life or dreamed that people actually went without clothes in public. I thought there were laws!

But there we were in the midst of the "ranch," entirely populated by young ladies whose whole sole habilitment consisted of 10-gallon hats and holsters. I was aghast, not only because of Mama but because of what was going to happen to me when we got back to our hotel.

I did not dare look at Mama. I could hear the steel in her spine creak as she drew herself up even more regally. I wanted to die.

There is a whole literature about "the last mile," the long and lonely walk of the condemned to gallows or chair. That night I walked every inch of the way with the unreprieved. Sally's Nude Ranch seemed as interminable as the King spread.

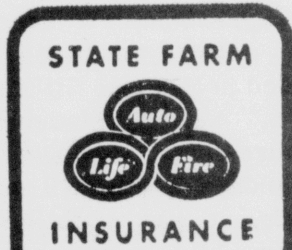

Our little band was both subdued and conspicuous. For some reason, in the opening days of the fair, Sally's concession hadn't really caught on and business was mighty slow.

But Mama changed all that!

As our chastened group, lead by our Queen Mary, exited into the Midway again, I understood better than ever why Mama's family nickname was "Queen." We left the Ranch just as Sally's barker was winding up a sizzling spiel to a large crowd of potential customers. But one and all seemed hesitant to part with money for a ticket.

At that psychological moment Mama, in a clear voice filled with shock and outrage, turned the tide. "Inez!" she exclaimed, "those are LOW women we have just seen!"

In the ensuing mad rush of customers trying to get into the ranch, Mama and I were almost knocked down. From that moment on, the Ranch was made! Unwittingly, Mama, bless her, had come up with the winning slogan.

WAY, WAY OUT

This has been a great year for science fiction or, if you like, weird fiction or tales of the other world, as it were. Besides giving birth to a couple of series like "Man and the Challenge" and "Man in Space," and "Twilight Zone," this interest has also spawned such other worldly entertainment as Ingrid Bergman in Henry James's old ghost story, "Turn of the Screw," and the other night, "Sunday Showcase" went way into outer space with "Murder and the Android."

The author of "Murder and the Android," Alfred Bester has created a world wherein human beings pelt around the universe, from planet to planet, waited on by androids, who are artificially created individuals, who look like human beings and can do everything we can do better. Except, of course, they have no souls. That old thing. Or., as one of the characters summed it up: "They can taste brandy but they can't appreciate it."

Into this halcyon world where the servant problem has finally been licked, comes a renegade android, very well impersonated by Rip Torn, who as they say on the show, has broken his conditioning. That is, he pats girls and sometimes almost kills them. His master, Kevin McCarthy, hasn't done a lick of work since he was born, living off the sweat of his android's brow. Both of them have to take to their heels whenever the android breaks the law, hopping from planet to planet, one step ahead of the forces of justice.

Despite the fact that the androids refer contemptuously to human beings as people who suffer from glandular disorders called emotions, Mr. Torn wants very much to suffer from these disorders himself. Eventually, he does. I have no intention of unravelling the whole plot which was not so much complicated as psychologically dense. If I understood him correctly, Mr. Bester is trying to say that having androids to free us of mundane preoccupations like work is by no means good for us. His humans are pretty close to being burns.

Buried in there also was a rather ironic plea for tolerance. There was a shot of a Negro actor strenuously objecting to allowing androids the same accommodations on space ships as humans. The NAACP won't like that a bit. As an exercise in live television drama, I found it all fascinating but unconvincing. His characters--his girl, boy, scientists, and android--were all pretty much Everyman, which is to say cardboard cutouts.

Production and direction by Alex March were very striking and professional.

I don't know what it is this year that has driven us into the nether world. Certainly the best and most original anthology series of the year is Rod Sterling's "Twilight Zone" which is very much on the outer fringes of reality. The stories are marvelously ingenious exercises in fantasy that border on fact. In short, they could almost be true. It's almost as if the writers are feeling the same urge as the astronauts--to break through conventional bounds of this planet and go live somewhere else, some other planet, some other reality.

And just as our flights into space are pretty crude, the writers' efforts to get out of this world are pretty crude, too. I don't think we have anyone who writes of the next world with the resounding authority of H. G. Wells or Aldous Huxley.

Henry James's "Turn of the Screw" is a ghost story but very much an old ghost story with nineteenth century whiskers all over its chin and a lot of loose talk about innocence and evil--two words that have passed out of the language in this age of psychiatrists. Ingrid Bergman was a marvelously passionate nurse in whose actions you could read almost anything you wished.

John Frankenheimer's direction, which got a little too baroque for its own good in "People Kill People Sometimes," was marvelously compelling, sure-footed, and sweeping. It has grandeur which this old tale sure needs. It was a chiller, all right. I hope Miss Bergman comes back in something warmer some time.

the opening of basketball just over three weeks away, on both of the high school teams are being made. The first in the varsity team was made today and approximately twelve are left. The JayVee squad been cut in half with about twelve or fourteen boys remaining. Lack of experience has presented many problems to the high school coaches, pointing out more and more to the need for a better organized system from the grade schools on up to the senior high.

Warren's first contest will be against Youngsville at the Eagle gym on Dec. 4. The next six games will be staged on the Beaty hardwood. They include Erie Memorial, Dec. 5; Northern Area, Dec. 8; Erie Academy, Dec. 11; Youngsville, Dec. 18; Erie East, Dec. 22; and the Alumni game, Dec. 29.

In January Warren plays at Northern Area, Jan. 5; Corry at home, Jan. 8; at Jamestown, Jan. 12; Franklin at home, Jan. 15; at Kane, Jan. 19; at Oil City, Jan. 22; Titusville at home, Jan. 26; and at Meadville, Jan. 29.

February's schedule includes Corry, there on Feb. 2; Franklin there, on Feb. 5; Oil City at home, Feb. 12; Titusville there, on Feb. 19; and Meadville at home, on Feb. 26.

GRA-Y BASKETBALL

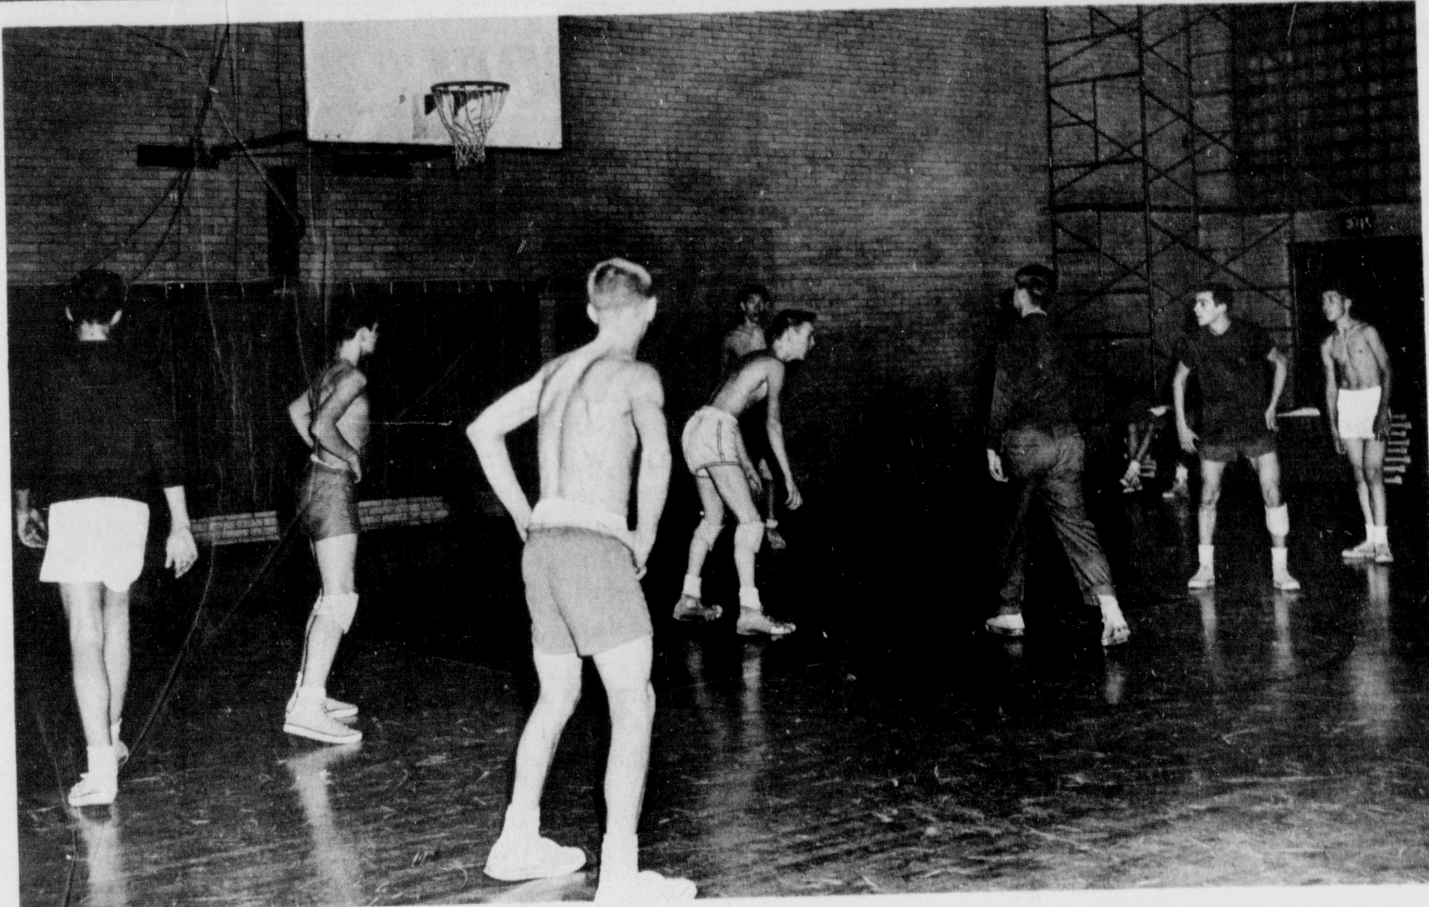

The interest generated in the Gra-Y basketball leagues has reached great proportions even before the season is under way. According to the league directors, Dick Betts and Bill Peterson, between 120-150 boys have already expressed their desire to compete in the grade school loop, the largest pre-season showing in the league's history. The Jefferson school, for example, has 47 young lads signed up who have been working out at the school gym. Eight lasses have aired their intentions of becoming cheerleaders for the group.

The twelve or thirteen adults who have turned out for the meetings thus far is far short of the number needed to give the boys proper supervision. Mr. Betts and Mr. Peterson ask that any adults who are interested attend the meeting to be held next Tuesday evening at the YMCA at 7:30.

KULBACKI AT ERIE

Joe Kulbacki, standout athlete at Youngsville and senior right half-back for the Purdue Boilermakers, has been invited to Erie to compete in the Gem City's Thanksgiving Day football contest. Joe and his running mate, Purdue fullback Jack Laraway from Erie Academy, have received permission from their coach to play in the annual East-West all-star battle in that city.

The Youngsville lad has been a constant threat in the Purdue backfield, excelling in defense as well as offense. When Purdue rings down the curtain on the 1959 gridiron season, Joe will have earned two letters in one of the toughest collegiate football leagues in the country.

JAYVEE COACH Andy Randas is about to bounce the ball off the board as he prepares his squad for fast break situations. This is good practice for both the rebounders and the boys cutting down the floor. Accurate passes and soft lay-ups are a must!

CONFERENCE TALK

Scheduling difficulties are leading to more and more talk on the formations of football conferences in this area. Last Friday's issue covered the league being promoted in the Mercer area and now there is rumor of one in the Bradford district. The recent news is that Bradford, Kane, Johnsonburg, Ridgway, and possibly Salamanca have discussed the possibility of forming a football loop to eliminate the problems which are arising in scheduling teams for open dates.

The Bradford team, which has now replaced the Warren series with a four year commitment with Kane, currently travels to Erie for skirmishes with the Erie schools, trips which cover over one hundred miles. However, in scheduling a New York state school, such as Salamanca or Jamestown, other problems will have to be faced. The New York state teams begin their seasons about 18 days after the first practice whereas the Pennsylvania schools start their first games according to week ends. This practice has already caused differences in the Warren-Jamestown battle for next year.

Fans should be aware of the many issues which come up in trying to maintain full slates for the high schools teams as many of the area schools have their schedules arranged two or three years in advance. From this recent rash of conference talk many of the advantages and disadvantages are coming to light.

GRAPPLERS TAKE THE MATS

With the wrestling season just a few weeks away, the tough job of getting in shape is confronting the WHS matmen. All boys who go out for wrestling are usually kept on the squad and contestants in the meets are determined by eliminations held the week prior to the match. Coach Hal Miller says interest is at a high pitch for this year's season.

The nine game schedule includes matches against Corry there, on Dec. 10; Titusville there, on Dec. 17; Franklin here, on Jan. 7; Oil City here, on Jan. 14; St. Marys here, on Jan. 21; Corry here, on Jan. 28; Titusville here, on Feb. 4; Franklin there, on Feb. 11; and Oil City there, on Feb. 18.

The sectional, district, regional and state meet dates will be announced at a later time.

ELEANORE AND WILLIE CLINGER ... children of Mr. and Mrs. William Clinger

Among the hundreds of books published each year for children pre-school age and in primary grades are titles that range from "rash" through "treasure". It is a problem of parents, educators, librarians, and authorities in the field to encourage the acceptance of measures and to de-emphasize the rash. By listing good, well-chosen titles for the age group in question, the authors of this weekly series, "Growing up with Books" seek to aid parents performing their part in the encouraging process. In the checklist which accompanies this article, the titles marked with an asterisk are available in the Children's Room at Warren Public Library. There also follows a selective list of a few authors whose books are dependable in quality and appropriateness of content when read to and with young children. Parents who wish to investigate further the field of children's literature and family reading enjoyment may find help among some of these sources, available at Warren Public Library:

Arbuthnot, May Hill. "Children and Books". Scott, Foresman, 1947. Duff, Annis. "Bequest of Wings". Viking Press, 1944.

Eaton, Anne Thaxter. "Treasure in the Taking". Viking Press, 1946. Fenner, Phyllis Reid. "Proof of Pudding". John Day, 1957.

Some outstanding authors for pre-school and kindergarten children: Margaret Wise Brown, Marie Hall Eats, Lois Lenski, Francoise Seigobosc, Louis Slobodkin, Charlotte Plotow.

Some outstanding authors for children in primary grades: Margaret Wise Brown, Jean and Laurent de Brunhoff, Marjorie Flack, Wanda Gág, Theodore Seuss Geisel (Dr. Seuss), Lois Lenski, Maj Lindman, Robert McCloskey.

Sports

ALL-SCHOLASTIC SQUAD

The Warren High Dragons were fortunate enough to place one man, end Dick White, on the Section Two All-Scholastic squad. "Whitey" earned this distinction with his timely pass catching and alert defensive play. The section champs, the Franklin Knights, placed five men on the select group.

Others besides White on the squad are Lou Fogle, Ron Baughman, Bob Michaels, Butch Conrad, and Don Harbaugh, from Franklin; Dick Helfrick and Jack Fisher, Titusville; Bob Lindsay, Corry; and Jack Painter, Meadville.

Jim Wick, the Blue and White fullback, was selected for the second team and Dave Grady, Warren's other end, was chosen for the third eleven.

ARCHERS CLOSE SEASON

A turkey shoot last Sunday closed the season for the Youngsville Archery Club. And as a result of the contest these bow and arrow men will have turkey for Thanksgiving dinner -- George Crippen, Gerald Guph, Norma Farnham, John Weaver, W.C. Kitelinger, Tom Lander, Don Steele, Richard Kimpfelman and Robert Shay.

Officers elected to serve during the 1960 season were Don Steele, president; George Crippen, vice president; Bill Myers, secretary and treasurer.

ELLA NORA DICKSON, wife of Clifton L. Dickson, 712 Terrace ave., Grove City, died instantly at 4:15 Tuesday afternoon, while making preparations to close their camp before leaving for Florida. Mr. and Mrs. Dickson had been in camp, hunting, since Nov. 3. She is survived by her husband and one son, George W., of Grove City; also, one sister and three brothers. Services were held today (Friday) in Grove City. Interment was in the Slippery Rock Cemetery.

THOMAS KING, 84, a lifelong resident of Tidioute, died Thursday afternoon in the Titusville hospital after a brief illness. He was born in Tidioute, December 1, 1875, the son of Charles and Martha Christy King. Until his retirement a few years ago he had operated a grocery business in Tidioute.

Survivors include two sons and two daughters, John E. King and Arthur L. King, of Tidioute, Mrs. Claribel Granoff, of Miami, Fla., and Mrs. Grace Reardon, of Akron, Ohio. Also six grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

Friends may call at the Sage Funeral Home where the rosary will be recited at eight o'clock Saturday evening. Services will be held on Monday at 10 a.m. in St. John's Roman Catholic Church, followed by interment in the church cemetery.

PUBLIC EVENTS

SEASON TICKETS . . . for the three Community Council PTA-sponsored plays to be given for the children this season are available at $1.50 in all the schools, borough and county, also at the B & B Smoke Shop. The plays are produced by the Children's Theatre of Warren, under the direction of Mrs. Edith O'Hara. The first play to be offered is "The Wizard Of Oz" to be given Saturday, Nov. 21, in Beaty school auditorium at 2:30. Peter Rose, of WNAE radio staff, will play the title role.

The other two plays to be presented are "Alice In Wonderland", February 20, and "Let's Go To The Moon", April 16.

A BOOK FAIR . . . sponsored by the Zonta Club of Warren will be held in the Wetmore Gallery of the Warren Public Library next Thursday, Friday and Saturday (Nov. 19, 20, 21). More than 300 current titles will be on display and the titles may be purchased for Christmas giving.

Many subjects will be covered including sports, homemaking, hobbies and fiction. A large collection of children's books for all ages will be shown, and Miss Ann Lesser, children's librarian, will be on hand to advise parents in their selection.

All books will be delivered to you in plenty of time for Christmas.

"THE CHERRY ORCHARD", . . . and "The Taming of the Shrew" will be offered by the Canadian Players Saturday, Nov. 28, in Beaty auditorium, with the first being shown at a 2:30 matinee, and the latter at 8:30 in the evening. The Canadian Players is the winter touring company of the famed Stratford Shakespearean Festival in Stratford, Ont.

Tickets are available in all Warren county high schools and junior high schools, also at the B & B Smoke Shop and United Cigar Store, Warren; Sheffield Pharmacy, Sheffield; Youngsville Pharmacy, Youngsville; Sabella Confectionery, Tidioute; and in Jamestown, at the Briggs Piano Store. All seats are reserved and are priced at $1.10 and $2.20 for the matinee, and $2.20 and $3.30 for the evening performance.

"YOU CAN'T TAKE IT WITH YOU", . . . a Pulitzer Prize-winning comedy by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman, is the choice of the Warren high school class of 1960 for its production for this year. Performances are scheduled in Beaty junior high school auditorium November 19 and 20.

A warm-hearted comedy about the zany Sycamore family, the play enjoyed a successful run on Broadway, was made into a popular movie, and last year was presented as a half-hour TV offering entitled "The Sycamores".

GENERAL

THE QUAINANCE BIBLE CLASS . . . of First Baptist Church will have a tureen supper at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow (Saturday), followed by the regular business meeting.

The program for the evening will be presented by Mr. and Mrs. Lyell Carr who will show colored slides of their vacation trip to the state of Washington.

MEMBERS OF WHS CLASS OF 1935 . . . are asked to meet in the office of District Attorney Sam Bonavita, Warren Bank & Trust building, Monday, Nov. 16, at 8:30 p.m. to continue plans for the 25th class reunion scheduled for next July.

GIVE TO GOODWILL . . . when they collect Monday, Nov. 16, in Warren and North Warren. Calls should be placed before date of collection by phoning Marilou Andereg at RA3-6075 any time after 12 noon.

MEMBERS . . . of Warren County Association For Retarded Children are reminded there will be no regular meeting for the month of November, due to a Fund Drive to be held during National Retarded Children's Week, starting Nov. 15, in which the local chapter will participate. The organization hopes to raise sufficient funds for local needs as well as for research on the national level.

A VETERANS DAY . . . dinner honoring all their comrades in observance of Veterans Day will be held for the Sugar Grove American Legion, auxiliary members and their families tomorrow (Saturday) at 6:30 p.m. in the Legion Home. Each family is to bring a tureen; meat and dessert will be furnished.

Round and square dancing will start at 9 o'clock, which is open to the public, so come out and help the Vets celebrate.

TIONA DIAMOND GRANGE . . . will meet Tuesday, Nov. 17, in the grange hall at 8 p.m. Guest speakers will be Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Hoff, whose subject will be "The Christian Answer to the Communist Threat". There will be an excerpt from a speech given by Dr. Frank C. Laubach at Chautauqua in 1958.

P.T.A. MEETINGS

Jefferson St. School PTA will meet Monday, Nov. 16, at 8 p.m. Speaker will be David Olson, who will show a film entitled "Crowded Out".

Harry Segel will be in charge of devotions, and hostess is Mrs. Bruce Jones and a group of fourth grade mothers.

North Warren School PTA meets at 8 o'clock Monday, Nov. 16. The theme of the meeting is "Survey of Public School Education", with a panel consisting of Dr. L. Vandermeij (Holland), Dr. V. Millward (England), and Dr. A. vonRuckteschell (Germany).

Mrs. Lucille Guiffre and Mrs. Liz Steinkamp are hostesses for refreshments, assisted by the fourth grade mothers.

Lacy School members will meet Tuesday, Nov. 17, beginning with visitation of parents and teachers at 7:30 p.m. Mr. Paul Mutzabaugh will describe the future of language education, using the theme "Your Child Speaks Two Tongues".

Irvinedale PTA will observe "Open House" and "Father's Night" next Tuesday, Nov. 17, at 8 o'clock. For the program, Mr. James Wright, singer, will present a program, accompanied at the piano by Miss Linnea Scott.

Mrs. Carroll Walstrom will be in charge of devotions, and refreshment chairman is Mrs. William Dove.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

Nov. 19 - 10 a.m., Conewango Neighborhood, Warren County Dairy, for leaders and troop committee members.

At 7:30 p.m. the same evening, the Court of Awards will be held in Jefferson Street School Auditorium, at which time the first class badges and curved bar awards will be given. Slides of the Senior Girl Scout roundup at Colorado Springs will be shown.

On November 17th, nuts will be delivered to the Neighborhood chairmen. Money for the Thanksgiving sale must be turned in by Dec. 15 in order to get the full commission. Also on the 15th of December, nuts for the Christmas Sale will be delivered to the Neighborhood chairmen.

The money the Council receives from the Nut Sale will be used to help further the development of Camp Birdsall Edey.

A PANCAKE SUPPER . . . for the benefit of the North Warren Community House will be served from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m., Thursday, Nov. 19, by a joint effort of the Board of Stewards, the Men's Bible Class, and the Women's Circle of the United Presbyterian Church of North Warren.

Tickets are 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for children, so come one, come all, is the word from the North Warrenites and enjoy a generous serving of old fashioned flap-jacks.

BOY SCOUT CALENDAR
